Reinosa Seized, Rebels Press On Near Santander

Insurgents Claim They Have Isolated 15,000 Loyalist Defenders

TRIPLE ATTACK ON 80 MILE FRONT

(International News Service)

HENDAYE France Aug. 17.—Digging into Stantander's concrete defenses with a three-bladed attack along an 80-mile front, Rebel Spanish armies today claimed that from 10,000 to 15,000 Loyalists defenders had been rendered hors de combat.

As the Insurgent forces swept past the important munitions-manufacturing town of Reinosa, 40 miles below Santander, a communique issued at Santander said practically all the "Marxist" troops in a wide area of hilly country were effaced.

Escape Impossible

Men making up 30 battalions, it was asserted, were killed, wounded, taken prisoner, or so completely surrounded that escape was impossible.

Tanks, airplanes, and artillery preceded the advance of three armies in five columns, while government forces constantly fell back and the much-vaunted "concrete king" of defenses around Santander apparently were crumbling.

Throughout this wide area 20 villages fell into Rebel hands overnight after an advance that has covered more than 12 miles in two days.

Loyalist troops launched a counter-attack on the Asturian front, in the hope of diverting stress from Santander, but they were repulsed with heavy losses, according to the Rebel announcement.

Reinosa was an important capture for the Insurgents, as it is the hub of a network of highways, also an important munitions manufacturing town. Rich deposits of zinc, lignite, lead, and oil are found in the surrounding country, and Reinosa formerly was one of northern Spain's most important industrial centers.

Pittsburgh Dealers Engage In Price Cutting War As Motorists Profit

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17—Allegheny county's gas-war flamed anew today as the associated gasoline dealers organization ordered its members to cut prices to meet competition. A city wide price war loomed as a result of the order.

President John H. Donahue said: "It looks like a general war. We instructed our members to cut the price wherever necessary to protect their business. I expect cuts will range from two to five cents, depending upon the competition."

Meanwhile, gasoline, in some sections of the city, was selling at 16 cents a gallon, four cents below the price."

Attorneys Push Charges Against Weirton Steel

CIO Attorneys Assert Company Dominates Activities Of Citizens

WITNESS ADMITS MILL CRITICISM

(International News Service)

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Attorneys for the Committee for Industrial Organization pushed their efforts today to prove at an N.L.R.B. hearing here on charges against the Weirton Steel company, that the company dominates activities of Weirton citizens.

The domination charge is one of three contained in the complaint against the steel firm.

Matt Suntella, second witness to testify at the hearing, said he was discharged Jan. 12 for "unsatisfactory service." Suntella was a government witness in the NRA hearing of the United States against the Weirton Steel company in Wilmington, Del., in 1934.

Suntella admitted he had been criticized by mill foremen for failure to perform duties to which he had been assigned. He first denied the allegation.

He maintained, however, that he had been discriminated against by being demoted.

Walter Bambrick, former Hollidays Cove postmaster, the first witness, testified that the Weirton company plays a leading role in affairs of the community.

Overcast Skies Causes Delay In Hunt For Fliers

Jimmy Mattern Waits At Fairbanks, Alaska For His Refuelling Plane

(International News Service)

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 17—Murky overcast skies threatened further delay today of the aerial search for Russia's six transpolar airmen lost in the vast Arctic reaches between Fairbanks and the North pole.

Alaska's veteran aviators made an initial search which took them half way to the pole Saturday but flights were held up today because of poor visibility.

Mattern Waits

Jimmy Mattern, who raced here in his $125,000 Lockheed Electra plane from Oakland Airport, Calif., to participate in the search, was to take off as soon as the weather clears. He may, however, await arrival of his refueling plane, now enroute from California so his initial flight will cover the entire 2,800 miles to the pole and back.

Mattern was impatient to get into the search, for in 1933 he was rescued from the Siberian wastelands after his round-the-world plane had been forced down. His rescuer was Sigismund Levanevsky who is one of the six soviet airmen lost since last Friday when they soared over the pole into 60 mile-an hour headwinds.

Copeland Wants Another Court Nomination Made

Democratic Senator From New York Flays Hugo Black As "Tainted"

SCORES BLACK'S KLAN SYMPATHIES

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Debate over the confirmation of Senator Hugo L. Black, Alabama New Dealer, as a justice of the supreme court, opened in the senate today with Senator Royal S. Copeland (D) of New York, launching a bitter attack upon the Alabaman.

Copeland brought into the open the frequently whispered charges of Black's connection with the old Ku Klux Klan. He did not charge that Black was a member of the hooded order, but he did assert that he was "a Klan sympathizer," and he declared the rights of religious and racial minorities would be unsafe in Black's hands if he were a member of the Klan.

Withdraw Name

"Oh, Mr. President," Copeland said at one point in his speech, "I beg of you to withdraw this name and send us another, that of a New Dealer if you must, but one free from the taint of religious and racial prejudice."

Copeland said he had no intention of reflecting on Black as a senator, since a state had the right to choose any representative it liked. But, he added, a Klan sympathizer has no right to seek a post on the supreme court.

Copeland called the Klan an "un-American, un-Christian and un-Godly organization."

"From the time he came into the senate," the New Yorker added, "Mr. Black has been a leader

10,000 Grangers To Take Degrees

National Convention To Be Held In Harrisburg, Pa., November 10-18

STATE GRANGE MEETS NOV. 8-9

Ten thousand grangers the country over will be candidates for the grange's seventh and highest degree when the national grange convention, meeting at Harrisburg, holds a gigantic initiation on November 12, it was learned here today from State Master J. Audley Boak of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

The national sessions open in Harrisburg November 10 and close November 18.

Master Boak said the Pennsylvania grange convention meets in the same city on November 8 and 9, the two days preceding the national meeting. He announced preparations for that convention are under way.

Within a few days he will announce dates for a series of special sixth degree initiation ceremonies to be held at scattered points in the state just ahead of the state convention.

Mr. Boak's term as head of the Pennsylvania organization will not expire until December, 1938, but he will be up for re-election again as assistant steward of the national grange in November.

Party Row Faces Democrats Over Wage-Hour Bill

Sponsors Of Bill Force Party Caucus To Consider A Vote Upon It

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS BLOCKING EFFORTS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—House Democrats were confronted by a party row over wage-hour legislation today as the result of action of sponsors of the legislation in forcing a party caucus on the subject.

A determined group of Southern Democratic members, aided by many from farming sections, defied the caucus to attempt to force action on the measure, now tied up by the house rules committee.

Caucus Called

The caucus will be called by Rep. Doughton (D) of North Carolina, chairman, because the signing of a petition by 88 Democrats made such action mandatory. The caucus probably will be on Thursday, he said.

House leaders, eager to preserve harmony as congress raced toward adjournment this week, frowned upon the movement. They expressed fear that a causcus may provoke a party row on farm legislation, split the 330 members on sectional lines and cause a wave of ill feeling at the end of the session.

"I doubt if they will get a quorum for the party caucus," observed Rep. Boland of Pennsylvania, Democratic Whip and ardent advocate of wage-

Expect President To Define Policy In Sino-Jap Tilt

Neutrality Act May Be Invoked Embargoing Arms And Credits To Both Nations

MAY DISPATCH ASIATIC FLEET

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Direct action by President Roosevelt to protect American lives in China, and to prevent possible United States involvment in the Sino-Japanese "undeclared war," was expected momentarily today.

A clear-cut statement defining American policy in the Far Eastern conflict will be made by the president, sources close to the White House predicted.

Embargo Arms

It was broadly hinted this action may be invocation of the neutrality act, embargoing arms and credits to both Japan and China.

The president thus far in the six-week bloody conflict has shown the greatest reluctance to take such a drastic step. But high government officials declared the fighting over all of North China has increased to the point where there can no longer be doubt that "a state of war" exists.

Other moves the president was represented as considering were:

1. The dispatching of the entire Asiatic fleet and heavy military reinforcements to the Shanghai area.

2. General, wholesale evacuation of all Americans from Shanghai and other danger spots who will leave.

Following general evacuation, if this decisive action is taken as it was after outbreak of the Spanish civil war a year ago, a high authority said, all Americans troops would be withdrawn from China.

American soldiers and marines have been stationed in China since the Boxer rebellion of 1900.

Hundreds To Take Tests For Civil Service Positions

Seven Western Pennsylvania Counties To Send Applicants Here August 24

Seven Western Pennsylvania counties will send 649 examinees to New Castle on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 24, 25 and 26, for special civil service tests for positions under the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation board, Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green, named by the state as administrator of all the examinations, announced today.

Dr. Gren said Lawrence, Beaver, Butler, Mercer, Armstrong, Clarion and Jefferson counties will be represented when the groups gather in rooms at the Senior high school on the designated days.

Trained Proctors

He announced that 35 or more trained proctors, chosen from New Castle, have been appointed to supervise the tests.

On Monday, August 23, at 1:30 p. m., at Senior high, the proctors will meet for their instructions, Dr. Green will be in charge of that preliminary session.

When the exam days come, only applicants carrying special admittance cards from the state will be granted entrance, Superintendent Green pointed out. Special police will be on guard at all doors to see that only those with credentials are admitted.

The state police will also have a

New York State Baby Dies Twice

(International News Service)

BEACON, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Martin Clifford of New York was in a semi-hysterical condition at a hospital here today, grieving for her new born baby girl who 'died twice.'

Declared dead four hours after its birth late yesterday, the infant was taken to a funeral parlor. There, however, the undertaker found the child was breathing, and she was taken back to the hospital and placed in an incubator.

An hour and a half later, the baby was declared dead again.

Shower Of Incendiary Bombs Presages Doom Of Native Chinese City

Fires Out Of Control As Firemen Are Called For Military Service—Foreigners Flee City Amid Hail Of Bombs—Japs Destroy Railroad Shops—Total Deaths Already Exceed 3000—Americans Ask Transportation To United States—Evacuation Boats Pass Under Aerial Barrages—U. S. Consular Authorities Fear Raid On International Settlement By Infuriated Orientals.

By M. C. FORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17.—Mammoth fires blazing hopelessly out of control threatened at least two-thirds of native Shanghai with complete destruction tonight.

Incendiary bombs hurled by Chinese and Japanese forces over a 30-mile front with destructive fury set large sections of Pootung and Chapei ablaze, adding to the horror and suffering, while hundreds of foreigners fled the city.

Two large fires lighted the sky over the densely crowded Pootung area as a result of bombs dropped by Japanese airplanes. Heavy naval guns poured huge artillery shells into the inferno as night fell.

Three huge fires also blazed north and northeast of the Japanese lines. All fires raged uncontrolled, as all firefighters had been withdrawn for military duties.

A bright moon and cloudless skies presaged new aerial bombardments before dawn.

While hundreds of foreigners fled the city amid tearful scenes, 12 Japanese bombing planes at 4 p. m. struck a terrific blow at the heart of Shanghai's communications, Chinese-held North Station, through which a steady stream of Nationalist troops has been pouring to bolster the estimated force of 80,000 already here.

Time after time in perfect formation the bombers sideslipped, straightened out over the station, and let loose their pellets of explosives, badly damaging the station, tearing up rails, and killing unknown scores.

Bomb Wide Area

Wheeling away from the station as Chinese anti-aircraft guns found their range, the Japanese airmen then bombed a wide area from the station to the commercial press building.

Japanese war planes carried out a mass bombing of the junction of the Shanghai-Nanking and Shanghai-Hangchow railways, two miles from the North Station, destroying repair shops, tracks and water-towers. Several important and strategic objects were hit and set afire.

The Chinese defenders replied weakly, their anti-aircraft guns proving ineffective against the raiders.

So violent has the five-day battle become, with the scope and tempo of the bombardments constantly increasing in a dozen cross-lines severing Shanghai that United States consular officials tonight expressed fears of an insane raid on the International Settlement inspired by oriental mass-hatred of aliens.

Nervous consular attaches pointed to the removal of the Chinese

Police Hunt For Automobile Thief

Young Man Seems To Have The Habit Of Collecting Other Peoples' Cars

Detectives and police today were searching for a young man, paroled recently on a charge of taking other people's automobiles on suspicion of committing the same offense again. He was recognized, it was reported, when he drove an alleged stolen auto through a barricade several miles from the city line on the Harlansburg road.

According to the report, E. K Allen, 32 North Mill street, at 4:35 p. m. went to the police station and reported his Ford coupe had been stolen from North street near the Neshannock creek bridge.

A few minutes later Cruiser Operators H. E. Richards and Golis sped after a Ford coupe which was speeding out Croton avenue. They did not know at that time it was a stolen car.

In order to escape, the young man is said to have whirled the stolen car along the Harlansburg road and to have ran through a barricade set up owing to resurfacing of the highway.

One of the workers was said to have recognized the driver before the latter turned the car from the highway into the field after which the driver leaped from the car and escaped.

SPECIAL SESSION RUMORED

To Call Congress Back In November

Five Point Legislative Plan Said To Be Reason For Proposed Special

SENATORS AGREE PLAN IS GOOD

By ROBERT A. McGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Rumors of a special session of congress swept Capitol Hill today as administration leaders discarded important bills in an effort to wind up the current session Saturday.

Seriously Considered

Sources close to the White House admitted privately the special session was being "seriously considered" to enact a five-point program which would include a portion of this session's "must" legislative calendar shunted aside in the adjournment rush.

The special session legislative calendar tentatively calls for wage and hour legislation passed by the senate and now tied up in the house; government reorganization, blocked in the senate; general tax legislation, regional power and land conservation development, and a general farm program.

Under the present plan, the special session would be called in November after President Roosevelt has taken a swing through the country to "sell" the voters on the special session and the legislative program.

Senators Favor

Senators predicted privately the special session proposal would meet with favor due to off-year elections coming up in 1938. They pointed out that in all probability the special session would cut short the regular second session of the 75th congress, and thus give members up for re-election a chance to go home early and mend their political fences.

Administration leaders, meanwhile drove the senate and house towards Saturday's adjournment goal.

APPLY FOR LICENSE

Application for a marriage license was made at Mercer last week by Archie G. Jackson and Jean A. Greaves, both of New Castle.

hour legislation. Boland, with other leaders, had abandoned hope for action until the next session.

Recalcitrant members of the powerful rules committee, who have prevented the revised senate bill from coming to the house floor, were unmoved by the flurry.

"It will have no influence on me and I do not think it will influence other members," said Rep. Cox (D) of Georgia, leader of the rules committee opposition to the measure.

Can Bind Members

A party can bind members by a two-thirds vote unless they excuse themselves because of prior commitments. The caucus rule, however, has proved ineffective in the last few years.

The caucus, it was admitted by sponsors of the wage-hour legislation, lacked authority to order the rules committee to permit consideration of the bill as reported by the labor committee.

"Just what action we will take is entirely up to the caucus," explained Rep. Healey (D) of Massachusetts, leader of the wage-hour bloc, which forced the caucus call. "We want action this session and took this means of trying to get it."

One member expressed belief that the most that could be gained would be a commitment from the rules committee to permit consideration of the bill when congress reconvenes. Unless a rule is reported, a petition signed by 218 members is necessary to force a vote on a bill.

Another alternative was to seek passage of the measure this week under suspension of the rules. But speaker Bankhead already has said that he was opposed to considering such an important measure by this method.

from the roadway by a sedan, and six men leaped from the pursuing car, the sheriff said.

Covering the officer with revolvers, the masked men hustled the negro into their car and sped away.

Sheriff Vaughn raised an alarm, and officers set out in pursuit of the mob and their prisoner.

Several hours later, the negro's body was found hanging from a bridge railing, about five miles from Covington. The victim's body had been riddled with bullets after being hanged with a rope plowline.

Employes of the Lawrence Auto Sales Company discovered a brilliant green snake, probably a grass snake, about 18 inches long in the grease room this morning. Although the detour bulletin of the State Highway Department for the period ending August 20 does not show any operations on the Harlansburg road, resurfacing is taking place at the present time, and one-way traffic has to be observed. Repairs are being made to the roadway just east of the city. Detour marks in the western section of the state are growing less each week.

A throng comes to New Castle on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, but the city won't see much of the crowd, and the crowd won't see much of the city. Almost 700 are due to take special civil service tests at senior high school for positions under the Pennsylvania unemployment compensation board. The school was being made ready for the exams this week.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Clifford Book

Mrs. Elsie Book, aged 29 years, wife of Clifford Book, of 244 Fern street, passed away in the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning at 7 o'clock after an illness of four months' duration.

Mrs. Book's condition had been serious since the birth of her little daughter, Dorothy June. A number of blood transfusions were made in an effort to save her life but to no avail.

She was born in New Castle on August 4, 1908, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Baynham, and resided here all of her short lifetime. She was a member of Central Christian church.

Her husband, daughter, parents, two sisters, Mrs. Harold Sloan and Mrs. Harry Martin, and two brothers, John and Roy Baynham, all of New Castle, survive.

Funeral services will be conducter Thursday at 2:30 p. m. from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin, 111 Mulberry street, with Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, Central Christian pastor, in charge. Interment will be made in Graceland cemetery.

John H. Roberts

John H. Roberts, aged 83 years, died at the residence, R. D. 3, Euclid avenue, at 1:30 a. m. today, following a year's illness.

Mr. Rober's was born in Shenango township on July 30, 1854, son of Samuel and Mary Bennett Roberts, and his lifetime was passed in Lawrence county. He was a plasterer by occupation.

Surviving are, his wife, Sarah Wicks McConnell Roberts, a son, Herbert Roberts, of New Castle, a daughter, Mrs. Linnie Grace, of Winfield, Kansas, a step-daughter, Mrs. Eva Jackamo, of Youngstown, O., six great grandchildren, one great great grandchild, and a brother, Edward Roberts, of New Castle.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. from the home, with Rev. Samuel R. Maitland in charge, assisted by the First Presbyterian minister, Dr. John J. McIlvaine. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Funeral Of Mrs. Greer

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Greer were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the residence in Wampum and were attended by a large assemblage of friends. Rev. L. V. Mohnkern, pastor of the Wampum M. E. church, was in charge.

Pallbearers were Frank and Charles Miles, Peter Robertson, Harry Liebendorfer, James Edwards and Charles Minner. Interment was made in Grandview cemetery, Beaver Falls.

Funeral Of Mrs. Wright

At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon funeral services for the late Mrs. Eliza J. Egbert Wright were conducted at the residence, 833 East Washington street, in the presence of a large gathering of friends.

Rev. Homer B. Davis, of Erie, a former pastor of Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, where Mrs. Wright was a member, was the clergyman in charge.

A favorite hymn of the deceased, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," was sung during the services by Mrs. Martha McCreary of Epworth church and T. J. Robinson of Grove City.

Many beautiful flowers had been sent by the many friends of the family.

Pallbearers were Henry C. McMullen, Milo N. Warner and Harold M. Mark, sons-in-law of Mrs. Wright, and Chester McMullen, Ernest McMullen and Richard Warner, grandsons.

Interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

fingerprint expert present to fingerprint all examinees to make certain the person taking the test is the applicant designated on the exam card. It was explained that fingerprinting is becoming more and more a part of all examinations. The state board is requiring it in this case.

Use High School

Eight high school rooms will be used for the test work on Tuesday, 20 on Wednesday, and nine on Thursday. The room schedule has been completed, and examinees will be directed to the proper test room by guides as they enter the school door.

"I will be the biggest civil service test here in a long time," the school head asserted.

Proctors for the morning exams will report each day at 7 a. m. for room assignments. At 7:30 they will receive their material and at 8 examinees will be admitted to rooms. No examinee will be admitted after 8:30 and all tests start promptly at 9 and continue until noon.

Proctors for the afternoon tests will report at 1:15 p. m. and examinees must be in the room at 1:30. The test starts at 2 and continues until 5.

All of the tests, it is believed, will be of the objective type. Thousands will take the exams throughout the state.

metropolis. The destroyers, U. S. S. Edsall and U. S. S. Parrott, were enroute from Chefoo to bolster the cruiser Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic squadron, and the Destroyer Peary. A company of marines was under orders at Manila to board the Dollar Liner President Hoover to reinforce the detachment of 1,100 marines at Shanghai.

General evacuation of Americans from China would entail the movement of more than 12,000 persons. Approximately 1,500 were taken out of Spain by U. S. warships and merchantmen during the first few weeks of the civil war. The exodus of women and children from Shanghai today was reported well underway.

Deeply anxious over the safety of 4,000 Americans in shell-wracked Shanghai, the president yesterday summoned Secretary of State Cordell Hull and state, war and navy department officials to the White House. With them, he went over the entire Sino-Japanese crisis.

Don Hackett Has Foot Cut In Ohio Pool

Steps On Broken Glass While Swimming At Craig's Beach Diamond, O.

Don Hackett is now confined to his home on Adams street from injuries sustained to his foot while swimming Sunday at Craig's Beach, Diamond, O.

While swimming, Hackett stepped on a piece of broken glass on the bottom of the pool, and severely cut his foot. He was removed to the Youngstown hospital where several stitches were taken and the foot treated.

The local youth was then removed to his home here and a report today stated that he is getting along nicely.

INCENDIARY BOMB PRESAGE CITY'S DOOM

postal remittance bank, in whose building the American consulate is situated.

The municipal council staff, the Americans further noticed, is faithfully carrying out the official order to duck three stories below the top floor on every airplane visit.

Especially vulnerable in any airplane attack would be the consular building, the Americans said, because of its height and prominence.

Fire Units At Work

With fires raging over wide areas in four sections of Shanghai, where Chinese batteries pounded at the anchored Japanese fleet and Japanese planes, naval guns and land artillery hammered Chinese entrenchments on either side of the river, all police and fire units left the International Settlement today to work on the south side of Soochow creek.

Under such a howling canopy of shell-fire, 312 more American women and children today fled to the safety of an American-flag liner.

Shells screamed across the stream into Chinese and Japanese military encampments, planes battled overhead and two plummeted blazing to earth, and explosions shook the city during the perilous dash down the river to the Dollar liner President Jefferson at Woosung.

Two hundred other Americans had preceded them on the President Taft.

Behind them the refugees, some of them expectant mothers, others women with small children in their arms, could see dozens of billows of smoke streaking into the blue sky over the Hongkew, Chapei, and Pootung sections.

Night-time, with incessant shelling by the meteor-like flare of starshells, brought little respite in the battle, and dawn today saw its fury redoubled.

At 7 a. m. the first Japanese airplane took the air, zoomed low over the famous bund, and made a direct hit on a Chinese building.

Planes Fill Skies

Within the hour the air swarmed with fighting craft, wheeling, ducking, dog-fighting, and loosing their deadly spawn of explosives. For a full hour Chinese bombing planes, piloted by American-trained men, dropped large shells on Japanese-occupied areas in the North Shanghai sections of Hongkew and Chapei.

Dozens of fires were started, and in the chaos of death and terror, it could only be assumed that deaths today added hundreds to the toll already exceeding 3000.

Cowering in their overcrowded cells in the Ward Road jail, eight prisoners were killed by a shell believed to have been fired from a big Japanese gun, and 70 were wounded, including the foreign warden. In spite of the danger, it was impossible to evacuate the prisoners because they were too numerous.

Two thousand British women and children and many other foreigners out of Shanghai's occidental population of 45,000 joined the dramatic and dangerous procession 12 miles down the Woosung.

The American woman departing today aboard a tender left their husbands standing mutely on the Bund until the little rescue boat was out of sight in the river mist and smoke of battle.

Among the women refugees there were some tears, but also many stout smiles. Expectant mothers were given precedence over all others. Also on the tender was Mrs. W. C. Kent with a boy born prematurely on that horrible Saturday when Chinese bombs burst in the International Settlement.

No visitors were allowed aboard the tender. Two sailors stood guard on the gangplank.

Dares Jap Fire

Above a lone Chinese plane flew menacingly, drawing the anti-aircraft fire of Japanese batteries. Soon a Japanese plane flew up in pursuit, driving off the Chinese airman.

The Americans kept out of sight as they proceeded down river under the cross-fire. When they passed the main line of fire at the bend where the Whangpoo turns northward, however, the opposing batteries, seeing the huge American flag waving fore and aft on the tender, withheld their shots for a while, until the boat passed safely.

Americans still here have started a petition asking transportation direct to the United States, instead of to Manila, P. I., next destination of the Dollar liners. Cost of remaining at Manila is too great, they contend.

The President Hoover is due here Friday from Manila, and probably will remove as many as 1,000 women and children, then make a second trip to Shanghai with the 31st United States Infantry.

A large section of British opinion now opposed evacuation, except for women and children, on the ground that fleeing causes them to "lose face" with the Orientals.

Britons seeing women off aboard H. M. S. Falmouth scattered suddenly to escape flying shrapnel and pale-faced women fell prone on the deck when Japanese bombers raided Chinese gun position, in Pootung, on the right bank, for half an hour. Large groups of closely-packed Chinese houses in that industrial quarter were blown up.

Japs Ignore Promises

Foreigners again complained that the Japanese air fleet, ignoring repeated promises, flew over the international section.

As the destroyer Duncan pulled out with another group of refugees, a fresh artillery battle broke out from big gun bases in the Kiangwan section, north Shanghai. Chinese batteries sent barrage flying over the international settlement in an attempt to sink Japanese warships riding in the river.

The British destroyer passed under this barrage, with Japanese naval guns and other batteries on the other side of the river maintaining a tunnel of shell-fire over the stream.

One Chinese "suicide pilot" swooped down to within 200 yards from the ground and aimed his bomb at Japanese headquarters in Hongkew Park. His daring proved futile, for he was shot down without ever hitting his objective, and only starting several fires in Chinese buildings.

In the midst of the raging battle, a boat load of Japanese reinforcements and supplies was landed at the Japanese wharf.

Britain's forces also received more men with the arrival of the second battalion of Welsh Fusiliers from Hongkong.

From a more favorable position down-stream, the Japanese flagship Idzumo today hurled big shells into the Pootung district, where 40,000 troops are concentrated.

A torpedo motorboat attempted to destroy the Idzumo during the darkness, but the toredo missed.

In 1917 the U. S. traffic toll was approximately 10,000. Last year 38,500 perished on the nation's highways. It is estimated that 50,000 will die before the present year closes.

Corporal Trebesh Announces Vacancies In Army Service In Philippines

Word was just received this morning by Corporal George Trebesh, officer-in-charge of the local army station, that vacancies now exist for local young men in the Philippine Islands.

The United States Army has numerous posts located on these islands and at various times throughout the year opens these posts for new recruits.

According to Trebesh the army transport ship will sail for the islands from New York City on September 11. All applications must be received by him on or before that date to be eligible. The present vacancies exist in the coast artillery service.

against all efforts to pass an anti-lynching bill. Within two weeks, he moved to table my own motion to add this rider on a pending bill.

"Naturally one wonders what Mr. Justice Black would do were another Scottsboro case appealed to the supreme court. Would he face such a case with impartiality and a sincere desire to do justice to negroes?

"Personally, I feel so outraged by this proposal to put a Klan sympathizer upon the bench that it is difficult to discuss the matter in temperate language."

Copeland quoted an editorial from the New York Sun, which read:

"Senator Black's history is one of intense political prejudices. If he has judicial ability it has never been shown. He has been the prosecutor, not the judge. His exhibitions in the inquiries he has conducted have been those of bias. Perhaps he knows law; there is no sign that he knows justice. Why should senators lay the ermine on him merely because he has sat with them? Senatorial courtesy should not become senatorial folly."

SHERIDAN-KLABER WEDDING TODAY

At 9 o'clock this morning, in St. Mary's church, a pretty wedding, marked with simplicity, took place when Miss Helen Elizabeth Sheridan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sheridan, 11 North Round street, became the bride of Clarence W. Klaber, son of M. A. Klaber, of 21 North Lee avenue.

In the presence of a gathering of friends and relatives of the couple, the Rev. Fr. Leo Watterson, celebrated high nuptial mass, before the beautifully embanked altar. Ferns, palms and flowers, in an artistic arrangement, provided a lovely and colorful setting for the ceremony. Adding further to the impressiveness of the occasion, appropriate music was contributed by the church organist and choir.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in an aqua chiffon gown made toe length, with short puffed sleeves and V neckline. She wore a large leghorn hat, and her accessories matched. Her arm bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses. Miss Elizabeth McDevitt as maid of honor, wore a gown of peach chiffon, made identical to that of the bride's. The skirt was floor length, and her accessories too, matched. A leghorn hat, completed her attire and she carried an arm cluster of Talisman roses.

Roswell Klaber served his brother as best man.

A short congratulatory period conducted in the church, was followed by a wedding breakfast served at a prominent tea room, for the bridal party and guests numbering forty-eight. The nuptial motif predominated in the appointments, and the traditional tiered wedding cake graced the center of the bridal table.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Klaber departed on a trip through the New England states, and upon their return will take up residence in New Castle. For traveling, the bride chose a navy sheer ensemble with pearl gray accessories.

Guests were present at the wedding, from Wilkes Barre, Akron, O., and Pittsburgh.

GERMANY'S EMPTY GRANARIES

FROM the utterances of the official spokesmen of the Nazi government, the outside world gains the impression that Germany is going forward in an acceptable fashion on all fronts. With important reservations, it is true that remarkable progress has been made by a nation which only eighteen years ago had been stripped of every last vestige of power and greatness. Germany is again a strong nation, unified, highly militarized and with a national leadership which, regardless of what else may be said about it, is effective.

There are, however, other aspects of the picture that are not so bright. It is significant that one of the important newspapers of Germany is threatened with suppression simply because it has revealed true conditions concerning the national food supply. The conditions provide real cause for anxiety.

One of the theories of the present government of Germany is that the nation can be made self-sufficient so that in time of emergency it may not be dependent upon outside sources for any of the necessities of life. In consequence of the pursuit of this policy, the German people are short 68,000,000 bushels of bread-stuffs, 33,000,000 bushels of wheat and 35,000,000 bushels of rye.

Meanwhile, the three great granaries from which Europe has drawn in the past—the United States, Canada and the Argentine—are either bursting with grain or else depleted of stocks purely of their own choice to avoid surpluses. The existence of this condition again demonstrates the impracticability of self-sufficiency. Proseperous conditions obtain only when there is freedom of trade between nations, when we take the products of Europe and Europe buys for its table the products of our great prairies.

The test of statesmanship comes when nations undertake to establish the terms of trade so that benefits will be mutual and national interests will be safeguarded. When it is impossible to meet this test, the alternative is self-sufficiency, which is usually attended by the results now being experienced in Germany.

LEAN DAYS

The New York stock market is not its old self. It has been regimented, regulated and taxed until, or so it must seem to brokers at times, it is hardly worthwhile for it to go on.

All summer sales have reached infinitesimal totals; rarely has there been a "good" day in the old meaning of the term, when sales mountedd to a point that brokers made money.

The stock market is in the doldrums. But one of these days it will take on new, if short, life and then the commission boys will again be in clover. It matters not whether the action is upward or downward, just so stocks change owners.

FAME

To William Gropper, artist and lampoonist, comes a unique honor. One of his oil paintings has been purchased by the Metropolitan Museum of Arts and it will hang in the select company of the Whistlers, the Van Goghs and the Titians.

It is an honor of no small measurement, for it must be remembered that it was his hand which conceived the caricatures of the Japanese Mikado, of Mussolini, and of numerous other monarchs and dictators, and which in turn, resulted in strong protestations from those nations. Mr. Gropper's pictures and cartoons frequently illustrate radical magazines and other publications that are strongly leftist. Thus, it was a bold stroke for the officials of the Metropolitan to select one of his paintings, and especially the painting of their choice.

They purchased one that is entitled, "The Hunt." At first glance it appears to be a normal hunting scene, with hounds and sportsmen crossing a wooded countryside. But closer study reveals that the quarry is neither fox nor fowl, but man. Here an enigma presents itself. Is it possible that the Metropolitan Museum of Art is ready to admit the moderns into its sacred hall?

BRIGHT HUES FOR AUTUMN

If even half of the happy forecasts for this coming Autumn are fulfilled the season will be one of infinite contentment, at least insofar as this condition can be achieved through the medium of business prosperity. Not at any time since the boom days have the favorable signs been so numerous and so impressive.

The keynote of flourishing conditions that lie just ahead is to be found, it is generally agreed, in the better times now being experienced by the farmers. Mr. Babson reports that farmers will average $24,000,000 more per week this year than last; a $9,000,000,000 income, fifteen per cent ahead of last year and the best since 1929.

Factory workers will make $50,000,000 more per week this year than last, an $11,300,000,000 income, thirty per cent ahead of last year and the best since 1929. Dividend checks will be about $10,000,000 per week greater than last year, a $4,000,000,000 income, thirteen per cent ahead of last year and the best since 1931.

A nationwide survey shows that in spite of rising material and labor costs, building continues, also that the unsettled conditions prevalent in industry for many months, which were interfering seriously with industrial progress, have to a large extent been adjusted.

These facts add up to an immensely satisfactory conclusion—good business this fall, assuming, of course, that there is not a recurrence of labor difficulties, the one danger that stands in the path of progress.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BOY TELLS TALL YARNS

Too bad so many parents have their imagination in cold storage. Such a mother writes of her seven-year-old son:

"The thing I worry over most is his seeming inability to tell the truth. I cannot actually rely on a thing he says. Sometimes what he tells sounds fantastic and I find out later that he has recited the events exactly as they happened, but those cases are, for the most part, exceptions, and pure fabrication is his usual way of recounting any experience. He began these tales when he began to talk plainly...Since he was five or six, I have talked, read and exhorted on the self respect and respect from others one enjoys whose words can be relied upon, and of how disgusting is the person who is not truthful, besides stressing the right and wrong angle....and now I am no farther than when I started.

"I realize that his very lively imagination is the cause of the fairy-like tales and am not so concerned over that as the fact that at home he will deny doing something even when it is perfectly obvious he has done it. His teachers tell me that he is unusually straight forward at school, and for that I am thankful. . . ."

Of course I answered this mother and tried to show her that her very eagerness to have her son speak truthfully had led her unawares to force him into lying. I suggested that she try to cultivate an imagination herself and to enjoy his yarns which are obviously mere fancy, cease putting him on trial or having "court scenes", and to quite lecturing him about truthfulness. But she, as hundreds of other mothers like her, may not choose to follow this advice.

Enjoyed Yarns.

All our children told wild yarns before the age of five or six; we enjoyed them, and encouraged these children; besides, we wrote down many of these fanciful creations. These children seemed to have no difficulty in clearing up confusions, since no one made them worry about any confusions they may have had. They certainly were not charged with lying when from their point of view they rarely had been nearer the truth as they saw it. It is how they see it that counts, after all.

Then they had abundant playmates their own age. These playmates help straighten out a child who gets things mixed up: leave it to them. Also they handled practical playthings and tools. You can't drive an ambiguous nail; joints don't lie; when a recipe is followed as in cooking the product is its own check. Parents who have enough imagination themselves won't have children who get the real and the fanciful mixed up. Most of us hard-headed adults need to pray for more imaginative power.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AMELIA EARHART

Although it is axiomatic that nothing is so dead as yesterday's newspaper, Amelia Earhart claims a place in the public consciousness far more permanent than that accorded mere run-of-the-mill front page sensations.

Truly named the first lady of the air, her fame rests on far firmer footing that that of the transient newspaper celebrity. A brilliant linguist, speaking five languages fluently, and an equally brilliant student of experimental chemistry, she made her first solo flight after only ten hours' instruction. Within two years of the day she won her wings, she had established a new woman's altitude record of 14,000 feet; a year later she receved the coveted license of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the first woman so honored. She went on to become the first woman to fly an autogrio, to receive the Distinguished Flying Cross, to make a transcontinental non-stop flight, to fly from Hawaii to the United States, to cross the United States in an autogrio. Within the short space of two months, she made the fastest trans-Atlantic flight on record and the fastest transcontinental hop by a woman.

For those amazing accomplishments, Amelia Earhart will be a vivid, living memory when the stories of today's lynch threat or tomorrow's movie divorce are yellowing in the files, forgotten even by the men who wrote them.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A GUEST

THE LONE BIRCH TREE

Out on a cliff of ancient stone,
A silver birch tree stands alone,

A gaunt and solitary thing
Where seldom comes a bird to sing;

In happy groups a mile away,
Safe sheltered, its companions stay.

They have each other through the year
For comfort when the storms appear,

But all alone this tree must brave
The buffetings of wind and wave

And cling with a tenacious grip
To life without companionship.

I never pass it by but what
I think of its unhappy lot

And wonder were it mine to know
Could I so much of courage show?

Could I with no companions near
As bravely serve my purpose here?

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:56. Sun rises tomorrow 5:13.

HINTS AND DINTS—::

Tomorrow is the great day—Old Timers Day. Every old timer and his descendants should make it their business to take part in the gathering. It will be a great place to meet old friends. Many people just go to look on. The fun starts shortly after one o'clock. We owe much to the pioneers of Lawrence county and this is one day in the year we can show them we appreciate what they have done. We will be looking for you tomorrow.

Example of the brotherhood of man: Italians killing Russians in Spain to give Germany a supply of iron.

Pennsylvania is going to build a new streamline penitentiary to cost over two million dollars in which to keep our hardened criminals. No doubt a nice electric chair will also be in it streamlined.

Butcher: "Round steak, madam?" Mrs. Junebride: "The shape doesn't interest me, so long as it's tender."

Once it was fashionable to try to look like an aristocrat, but now that's out.

A colored man has been the city clerk of Cadiz, for 56 years and is running for another term. He may be all right for the rest of life if some Dem don't try to sidetrack him.

CAME THE DAWN

Neighbor: You must have been deaf when Jones sold you this car. It sounds like a washing machine trying to take the kinks out of a log chain.

Used Car Victim: Maybe that's why Jones played the radio so loud every time he took me out for a sample ride!

Now that the gals have a neat coat of tan they are beginning to long for one of fur.

At twenty you rush to the telephone; at forty you have learned that people who call seldom wish to give you anything.

Hi Hum says it is getting so a lot of folks think the government is an agency which should take money away from somebody else and give it to us.

Whitewash is often used to keep politics clean.

Lafe Hawkins was all tuckered out last night when he got home from watchin' a steamshovel all afternoon

Mary Pickford and her new husband, Buddy Rogers are to get $30,000 for a one week's engagement in Cleveland. Sometimes when those movie folks get together there is more money in it for them.

Modernistic building places the prison bars closer together so the narrow minded can't get out. The older architecture provided only for the fatheads.

If the purse-proud are insulted when asked to pay cash, it means they like to wait six months or a year.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN?

The government is worried about war talk. Such talk hurts our foreign trade, it is said.

Such talk increases our foreign trade. Nations preparing for war buy our raw materials. Too busy making arms to produce their own food, they buy their food from us.

But such fly-by-night trade is not healthy. What will happen to it when the talk stops? And what will happen to us when the war starts?

While it is true, marriages fell off greatly during the depression, the boys and gals got used to waiting and the new marriage laws giving notice to marriage don't bother them. They are making up for it now—and how!

New Yorkers never cross a bridge until they get to it, and then they go through the tube.

Political differences may become the cause of divorce in Germany says a cabled dispatch. That wouldn't work in America where many a young husband has never discovered what his wife's political beliefs may be. More than one bride has been a Socialist regarding the pay envelope, a Liberal on shopping trips and a Conservative in preparing meals.

Pity the kid who climbs under a circus tent and finds himself in a revival meeting.

What has become of the chaps who used to raise the longest cukes?

OBEDIENT WILLIE

Willie was struggling through the story in his reading lesson. "'No,' said the captain," he read. "'It was not a sloop. It was a larger vessel. By the rig I judged her to be a-a-a-a——'" The word was new to him. "Barque," supplied the teacher. Still Willie hesitated. "Barque!" repeated the teacher, this time sharply. Willie looked as though he had not heard aright. Then, with an apprehensive glance around the class, he shouted "Bow-wow!"

The best time to make vegetable soup is in the summer time when all the things that go into the soup are nice and fresh. Hot weather is about the only thing that interferes with the soup this time of the year.

Policemen seldom make good golfers, because they can't get on to the new fangled way of swinging a club.

Our idea of constructive criticism is when the truth is spoken. Honest criticism often does a lot of good if it touches a head with enough in it to catch it.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

In a certain shop a group of men do a certain job and are paid on the piece work plan. One day they had more work than they could handle so the boss sent a colored man, who is paid by the day, around to help them.

After he had been assisting for about an hour, one of the piece-workers piped up good-naturedly: "Rastus, we don't seem to get any more done since you come than we did before."

This didn't annoy Rastus a bit. He replied: "Ah done gone don't get paid fo' what I does around heah, ah gits paid for what time as is heah."

Those Russian airmen must like this country, or maybe they are just wanting to show us what they can do.

It is easier to fight a fellow with a double chin because a fellow isn't so liable to miss.

It's getting so now they don't execute murderers on Friday the 13th. Surely no bad luck can happen to those boys after they get it.

The only time the middle-man gets any consideration is when he sits between two pretty girls in a porch swing.

When some people say they have something on their mind they are bragging.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

NOTHING will determine the character of a room more than the selection and hanging of its pictures. Their selection is, of course, a matter of individual taste. Pictures should never be bought merely because they are inexpensive or because the frames are interesting. The determining factor should be whether they fit into your scheme of decoration and improve the space they will occupy.

There may now be found a greater variety of good pictures at reasonable prices than ever before.

Masterpieces are out of the reach of most of us but nevertheless, a lover of art may partially satisfy her desire for fine art by purchasing good reproductions of her favorite pictures. Some of the better magazines carry such reproductions in color that frame beautifully.

Remember that:

Large pictures need space to show them off advantageously.

Scenes showing curving lakes and brooks and winding roads disappearing beyond the horizon need distance that they may be seen in perspective.

A dark corner will be improved by the addition of pictures high in color, especially pinks, reds and yellows. On the contrary, bright pictures need no great degree of light.

Pictures with dark mats should not be placed adjacent to those with light mats. Always place your pictures flat against the wall and hang the very small ones in groups rather than scatter them around the room.

C. I. O. Goes Into Politics
Labor Endorsed Men Nominated
New York To Be Battle Scene

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

Recent mayoralty primaries in Ohio may be a straw in the wind as to the New York mayoralty primary in September.

In Ohio C. I. O. endorsed men won the Democratic nominations in Akron, Canton and Massillon. And, in Massillon, the present mayor, a Republican "charged" with being "a corporation man" in the steel strike, was defeated for re-nomination.

The C. I. O. men are, of course, pro-New Deal. They captured their respective Democratic organizations—so much so that the old-line Democrats in Akron have been debating whether or not to slide over to the Republican ticket.

These cities are in the most heavily populated part of Ohio. Akron is a city of nearly 300,000, Canton of more than 100,000 and Massillon is approximately 35,000.

And next month Cleveland metropolis of Ohio, one of the largest cities in America, is to have a primary. And some people there now are betting that a C. I. O. supported man will be found to be the opponent of the present Republican incumbent when the smoke of battle clears away. The two men receiving the highest primary vote oppose each other in the November election in Cleveland.

CONGRESSMEN, TOO?

Laborites are saying that they will not stop with mayors and councilmen. They will enter the congressional primaries, also, and the senatorial primaries. This may be significant in Ohio, as Senator Robert L. Bulkey's term expires in 1938. Senator Bulkley has been an off-and-off supporter of the New Deal. He favored the president's supreme court plan, but voted against the wages and hours measure. Senator A. Vic Donahey, whose term does not expire until 1940, is an anti-New Dealer, on the basis of his vote record.

Now, although both Ohio senators and the majority of congressional representatives are Democrats, they are not considered by labor as sufficiently New Deal. Thus there probably will be a fight all down the line.

But, of course, the opposition will not remain idle. A great deal of money will be available, even this year in the mayoralty campaign, in support of the Republican candidates, in an effort to defeat the laborites.

That will be a forerunner to the large sums expected in the 1938 congressional elections.

NEW YORK SIMILAR?

Will the New York mayoralty campaign shape up much as the Ohio campaign has?

New York, too, has a large industrial population.

Labor has given its support to Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, Fusionist.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, New Deal candidate for the Democratic nomination is trying, however, to line up some of labor.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, Tammany's candidate for the Democratic nomination, is anti-New Deal and bids for the conservative vote.

On the basis of the Ohio vote, the extreme conservative might lose out. But there are angles in New York City that do not arise to the same degree in smaller cities.

Racial and religious ties are not playing a large part in Ohio. Will they play such a large part in New York as had been predicted?

That is debatable.

The New Deal and C. I. O. are cutting across racial and religious ties. The reason is clear—the New Deal and the C. I. O. appear as beacons guilding the way to economic and social freedom to thousands. These thousands picture a new world through those instruments.

DEMOCRATS CAPTURED?

Do the Ohio elections indicate that the New Deal, or the C. I. O., will gain complete control of the Democratic party—at least in the north?

If so, there will be no need for a Labor party in the United States. Labor will be strongly entrenched in the New Deal Democratic party.

But where will the conservative Democrats go? And if they do go over to the Republicans or form a new conservative Democratic party, will the rank and file of the Democrats in the south follow them? The rank and file of Democrats in the north are proving to be New Deal-C. I. O.

The New Deal, of course, has the advantage in that it is in control of the party machinery, and each primary election seems to be strengthening that control. And it has the party emblem. There are tens of thousands of Americans, particularly in the south, who never have voted for any other emblem.

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press By CLARK KINNAIRD

.. TUESDAY' AUG. 17

Once Upon Aug. 17—By checking back via references of contemporaries to eclipses, battles, etc., it can be figured out that Aug. 17, 594 B. C., Sappho, the most often quoted and most widely discussed woman genius in history, died—possibly by diving 2,000 feet into the sea from Leucadian Rock, in a fit of unrequited love for handsome, younger Phaon.

The world often makes the error of supposing an author's character is unseparable from his or her words. Sappho has a classic reputation as wanton because of the depth of feeling expressed in her odes.

She believed that "What is beautiful is good, and what is good will soon be beautiful," and opined "I would not exchange my mind for your beauty, fair maids," two thoughts that one of the Dale Carnegie-Dorothea Brande school of inspiration writers ought to be able to expand into another best-seller.

Sappho's own goodness is questioned, yet she was a mother who wrote she would not exchange her daughter, her "golden flower Kleis, the beloved," for all the kingdom of Lydia, and she wrote a classic attack upon the morals of one Rhodopis, who led Sappho's brother astray. By thus being immoral, Rhodopis achieved immortality.

Horace and many another great poet used the Sapphic measure. Byron, Swinburne and many another have tried to improve her style, and admitted failure. Solon, greatest of ancient Greece's seven wise men, hearing his nephew sing one of Sappho's songs, was so impressed with it beauty that he explained, 'Let me not die before I have learned it."

Regardless of her morals, Sappho did much for women.

On Other Aug. 17ths: 1619—Slavery began in America. A Dutch ship came into the James river, Virginia, with abducted Africans and sold 20 to tobacco planters. These, however, were not the first slaves in the New World. Columbus stole natives from Hispaniola (Haiti) and took them to Spain.

1717—The Mississippi company was chartered in Paris with the exclusive privilege of commerce with Louisiana territory (all of Mississippi river valley and obligated to introduce within 25 years 6,000 white and 3,000 colored settlers. (Its first settlements were on the Yazoo, at Natchez, on the bay of St. Louis and on Pascagoula bay).

1809—The first Disciples of Christ church was organized at Washington, Pa., when a group of Presbyterians formed The Christian Association around Thomas Campbell and his son Alexander, and made a temporary affiliation with the Baptists. They grew into a separate denomination in 1823.

1836—Peter Collier was born in Madison county, New York. Work in a country drug-store introduced him to chemistry, started him on a distinguished career as this country's first outstanding agricultural chemist. He standardized fertilizers, organized the first farmers' institutes, introduced sorghum cultivation and developed sugar-cane production.

75 Years Ago Today—Another war broke out in the U. S.: the Sioux of the Dakotas combined with other plains tribes under the generalship of Red Cloud to harry frontier settlements until a treaty of peace was signed in 1868. Whites were the first to break the treaty!

1914—Franklin D. Roosevelt, third son of the president and recent bridegroom, was born. Other birthdays: Mae West, b. 1883 approx.), exhibitionist; Lester Cohen, b. 1901, novelist—Sweepings, Two Worlds, The Great Bear, etc.

One Years Ago Today—The first worker to benefit from government-controlled unemployment insurance (Neils B. Ruud of Madison, Wis.), received a check for $15 for one week.

Defies Death In His Occupation As Lion Hunter

Government Slayer Of Snarling Beasts Has Some Thrilling Moments

SILVER CITY, N. M.—The mountain lion is rapidly becoming scarcer in southeastern Arizona thanks to the efforts of Clyde Miller, the federal government's slayer of the vicious beasts which prey upon deer and cattle in the rugged range country.

Last year, Miller was officially credited with killing 25 of the snarling beasts. He estimates that the lions he killed during 1936 would have destroyed between 1,000 and 2,000 deer or domestic animals had they been permitted to live.

A pack of trained hounds plays an important part in Miller's forays upon the huge "cats."

Dangers Minimized

"Miller minimizes the dangers which he experiences almost daily," said E. M. Mercer, district agent of the United States bureau of biological survey, the hunter's contact with the outside world.

"It is true that a lion will seldom attack a human unless hopelessly cornered. But that is just the position in which lions that chance to deal with Miller often find themselves."

The methods used by the hunter closely parallel those used by early frontiersmen. To his hounds, which respond to his commands with military precision, he gives much credit.

Hounds Lead Way

Each morning Miller and the hounds are up at dawn and away. The dogs take the lead, and if a lion has crossed their path during the previous night they immediately pick up the scent and face ahead in anticipation of the kill.

Miller follows on a horse until the going becomes too rough, then starts over the trailless, brush-covered wastes afoot in pursuit of the dogs.

When the prey is sighted, in a treetop or on a rocky ledge where he has been driven by the hounds, Miller raises his rifle and brings the lion tumbling to his death.

Rigid Tests Are Given Feminine G-Men Applicants

Candidates For Detroit's Feminine G-Man Force Must Meet Rigid Tests

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich.—A feminine "G-Man" force is being formed in Detroit.

While the federal bureau of investigation enlists the services of highly educated men who study a rigorous course of training before becoming "G-Men" attractive young women seeking positions in the Detroit Police Department Women's division, encounter similar rigid requirements.

Chief Eleanore Hutzel's force of 42 officers includes many young women with college educations and professional experience. Among them are lawyers, trained nurses, and a number of social workers.

Miss Hutzel said the average age of the "G-woman" here was 25 years. They received the same pay as patrolmen, $2,000 a year.

In the past year the women's division handled 12,000 complaints, Miss Hutzel said. The work of the department was found to be so voluminous that Miss Hutzel requested 12 women be added to the department. They are to be added this summer.

When the staff is increased to 54, the first lieutenancy since the division was organized in 1921 will be created. The officer will receive $2,950 a year.

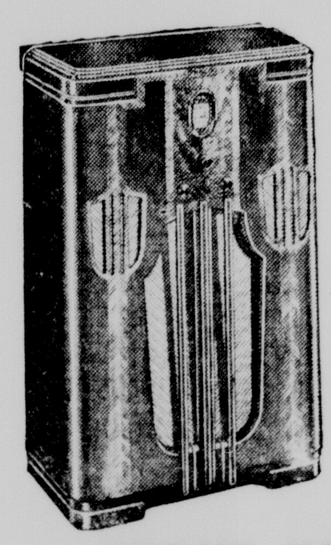

Miss Hutzel said the responsibilities of a woman officer in the automobile city are as great as those of policemen. She said the work is to a great extent social in nature and the division is charged with all problems dealing with morality among children and women. Virtually all sex cases are turned over to Miss Hutzel's department.

Sixth Fire In Lasky Building Reported Today

Blaze Believed Of Incendiary Origin Discovered At 6:30 This Morning

City firemen were called to the A. M. Lasky building, 1223 Moravia street, at 6:30 this morning by an alarm from box 55, to extinguish the sixth fire, all of the same nature, which have occurred since May 10. All are believed by Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain to have been of incendiary origin and were started under the weather boarding in the outside walls of the building, burning to the roof.

The blaze this morning was discovered on the south side of the building and burned its way up to the roof and had started to eat its way under the roof when firemen arrived on the scene.

The damage amounted to around $100, it was reported.

Fires, all of the same character, occurred on May 10 and 27, and June 2, 13 and 27.

The building is occupied by the L. Baron Hardware company, but they sustained no loss from this mornings' blaze, they stated.

More than three-fourths of the land in the United States is sloped.

Remind Parents Of Vaccination Law

First-Year Pupils Must Show Proof When School Term Opens

Parents of children entering school for the first time on September 8 today were reminded by Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green of the provisions of the Pennsylvania smallpox vaccination law.

The law states that each child must be vaccinated before admission to school and must present evidence to that effect in the form of a certificate signed by the physician. If a "take" is not secured, the procedure must be repeated.

First grade children should have their certificates with them on the opening day of school.

Officers Start Picking Nickels From Meters

City Treasurer McKibben Has A Job Counting The Buffalo Coins

George Kennedy, acting chief of police and Officer Ray Richards today commenced the task of collecting the boxes containing nickels from the parking meters which already have been in operation. At noon City Treasurer C. C. McKibben, stated he had not yet been able to count the money. The collection started at 9 a. m. today. The meters were installed last week.

According to Kennedy the parking meters already have proved an aid to traffic. He said that there were no tie-ups in main arteries last Saturday night despite the heavy traffic flow.

Commenting today on some moviegoers complaints that they now insert a nickel in a meter if they wish to park a car while they attend a show, Mayor Charles E. McGrath siad:

Prior to the installation of meters there were ordinances designating different time periods on various thoroughfares. In the movie section the one half parking rule prevailed.

"The only reason the people who parked their cars did not receive a tag was because they were not caught and again" the mayor added, "it is not right to park a car two hours in front of a business house."

The meter parking ordinance is not effective after six p. m. except Saturday, which gives autoists an opportunity to park free wherever they can find an open space at night.

Tent Meetings At Wampum Will Open On Friday Evening

Rev. J. R. Bartlebaugh Of New Castle Is Evangelist In Charge

REV. J. R. BARTLEBAUGH

A gospel evangelistic meeting will be conducted in Wampum August 20 to 31 by the Rev. J. R. Bartlebaugh, pastor of the Dewey avenue Free Methodist church of New Castle.

There will be services each evening, beginning Friday of this week at 7:30 throughout the rest of this month. Rev. Bartlebaugh will conduct no services Sunday mornings because of the special worship in the other churches of the town.

On Thursday of this week the evangelist is expected to arrive in Wampum with his large 40x70 water and mildew proof tent to be erected on a plot of ground lying between the P. R. R. tracks and the Presbyterian church, the use of which has been kindly donated by Mrs. Cunningham of Wampum. A 14-16 tent, where two men from New Castle will camp during the meeting, will be erected also.

On both Sundays of the campaign there will be a special gospel service conducted at 2:30 p. m. in the tent tabernacle. Rev. Bartlebaugh's subject for the afternoon of Sunday, August 22 will be "A Pot of Gold".

For the first evening of the series Friday, August 20, the pastor-evangelist will preach on "When the Dead Live."

Beside the general congregational singing there will be special singing, especially on the evenings when the singers from surrounding towns are not engaged in their own local services. One of the features will be the singing of old hymns such as were used in early Methodism.

The location, as well as the interior of the tabernacle, will be well lighted with electricity. The meetings will be public and interdenominational.

In Senate Race

A rift in the Democratic party of Arkansas was precipitated in the fight to name the successor of the late United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson. Democrats who balked the choice of Gov. Carl E. Bailey by the State Central Committee chose Representative John E. Miller (above), who will enter the special election as Bailey's rival.

Post Office Needs A Door This Time

Penthouse Door On New Post Office Can't Take The Weather It Seems

The penthouse door on the roof of New Castle's new post office, opened late in 1934, must be replaced, according to an advertisement for bids posted on the post office lobby bulletin board today. Postmaster Richard A. Steen is now receiving the bids.

The new door, it is understood will be a metal one. The first one was of wood and exposure to the weather has warped it.

Pioneer Grove City Man Is Taken By Death

James P. Locke, Known Here And Pioneer Citizen Called By Death Monday Night

James P. Locke, 86, pioneer resident of Grove City, passed away at his home on McConnell street, Monday at midnight, death being due to a heart attack. Although the deceased was in his eighty-sixth year, he had been quite active and apparently in the best of health. He is the father of a New Castle man, Frank P. Locke of North Ray street.

Mr. Locke lived in Grove City all his life, and was one of the original members of the board of trustees of Grove City College. He also helped to organize the Methodist church there, and he had the distinction of signing the original petition incorporating Grove City boro in 1882. He had always been a leader of the community, and took a personal interest in all civic affairs.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Emma McConnell of Grove City, and the following children: Fred of Jacksonville, Fla., William, of Mansfield, O., Mrs. Ernest Erb of Sharon, Miss Sarah Locke at home and Frank P. Locke, New Castle. There are fourteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Locke residence in Grove City, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the old Methodist Cemetery, Grove City.

PARTY AT HULINA HOME

On the night of August 15, Tony Hulina was taken by complete surprise at his home here, when guests including relatives and friends numbering twenty-one, invaded to help celebrate his fifty-first birthday anniversary.

The group surrounded the honored one and presented him with a collection of handsome gifts as further mementos of the happy occasion. Afterwards attention was given to a round of entertainment, composed of games and contests of various kinds. The serving of lunch followed, and the table was most attractive with the usual birthday cake.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Julina, Mr. and Mrs. John Hulina and daughter Barbara Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schneider, Mrs. Knezobich and son Emil, Joe Chorle and Mary Kucich, all of Pittsburgh.

Maleta Pilch Leads Contest

Has Most Votes In Race For Labor Queen Role

LEADER RECEIVES VALUABLE GIFT

Maleta Pilch of 1001 Lorain avenue yesterday became the proud possessor of a beautiful suite of bedroom furniture which was awarded Saturday to Miss Pilch because, up to the present time, she has been not only the most popular but the hardest working candidate for the honored position of Her Majesty, the Queen of Labor, September 6-11, inclusive.

The standing of the contestants according to votes counted Saturday night, Aug. 14, follows:

Maleta Pilch, 15,450 votes; sponsored by Women's Union Label League.

Martha Jane Davis, 12,400 votes; sponsored by International Association of Machinists, No. 166, and Federation of Railroad Crafts.

June Travers, 10,850 votes; sponsored by International Alliance Bill Posters and Billers.

Phylles Crane, 10,850 votes; sponsored by Brotherhood of Operative Potters, No. 161 (Refractories).

Violet Frankovitch, 10,000 votes; sponsored by Journeyman Barbers International Union of America.

June Frank, 8,900 votes; sponsored by Motion Picture Projectionists.

Margaret Picarro, 7,000 votes; sponsored by International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs.

Lembertha Przybylski, 5,000 votes; sponsored by Amilgamated Clothing Workers of America, local No. 99.

Julia B. Boston, 4,000 votes; sponsored by Retail Clerks, No. 257.

Ellen Hurme, 4,000 votes; sponsored by American Can lodge No. 1283.

Bernadine Reider, 1,000 votes; 1311 Wilmington avenue.

The girl who wins the coveted honor of "queen" will reign over the historical pageant spectacle and celebration which is being held September 6 to 11, inclusive.

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday rehearsals are being held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral for members of the cast of 1,000 local people who are taking part in this historical pageant of New Castle and Lawrence county. Pat Gorman, pageant master, and Robert Colton, business manager, are elated at the splendid response and the marvelous talent exhibited by the youngsters and old folks alike, of this city.

Every effort is being made to make this celebration the most worthwhile affair ever conducted in this section of the country.

Frowns On Motor Police Hiding To Trap Car Drivers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17—Pressure from out of state, principally from Ohio, has been responiible for a new atitude within the ranks of the new Pennsylvania motor police....Ohio newspapers claimed the commonwealth, in its zeal for highway safety, was victimizing motorists particularly those from other states ....so vehement were the articles that newspapers within the state began drawing attention to the situation. Result: this week Admiral Percy Foote, the new commissioner of the motor police, instructed squadron commonders to order officers under their command to use a "courteous manner" in dealing with the motoring public at large and to do "everything practical to make known their presence on the highways" Foote let it be known he frowned on the practice of hiding behind billboards and in back gasoline stations in wait for offenders of the highway laws.

Steen Is Going To Postmasters' Meet

Postmaster Richard A. Steen will attend the third annual convention-reunion of the Pennsylvania State Association of Postmasters in Scranton, Pa., from August 19 to 21. Speakers, it was learned, will include W. W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general from Washington: David Lawrence, Pennsylvania Democratic leader, and Congressman P. J. Boland.

County taxes paid to date this year do not amount to as much as last year at this time, according to County Treasurer, Joseph H. Hartland. The amount this year is about $422,000, while last year it was $521,000. The total tax levied is something over $700,000. Taxpayers have only until September 1 to pay their taxes and save the penalty of five per cent.

Owing to the fact that the new road which is to be built from the Edenburg-Hillsville road from a point at the end of the present concrete to the Poland road, north of Hillsville, will pass through limestone quarries which have been worked over, some very deep fills will have to be made, according to the county commissioners. In some places these fills will be as much as fifty or sixty feet deep.

Pasquale Amabile, residing at the rear of 310 Home street, has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from his wife, Nicolena I. Amabile, a native of Italy. The couple was married in Italy in February 1904. Mrs. Amabile now lives at Baelice, in the province of Benevento, Italy.

Letters testamentary in the estate of Lulu G. Reese, late of Plaingrove, have been issued by Register and Recorder Hanna to Margaret E. Collins. Letters in the estate of the late Helen R. Keeley, of Ellwood City, have been issued to Leo Keeley.

Mrs. Mary Conti, court interpretress, who has been having a visit with lumbago, is able to be at court again.

Miss Emma Carson, deputy prothonotary, has returned from a two weeks vacation spent in Erie and Cleveland, O. She attended the exposition at the latter place.

A session of motion court will be held tomorrow morning and a session of orphans' court on Saturday morning.

William Henderson, colored, who was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the western penitentiary for larceny, was taken to that institution yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Connie Wardman.

Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds, now has the street lists of voters ready for distribution. The lists were printed this year on the new county mimeograph.

In the equity case of Adelaide Timreck, widow, Charles and Elizabeth Vogelius against Mary Eva Clendenin, Virginia Foltz and others, the court has directed that a copy of the bill be served on Charles and Fredereka Childs, residing in Lumberville, Bucks county, Pa. The case is one for an amicable partition of property in which the plaintiffs and the defendants are interested.

Seventy-seven instruments of all kinds were entered at the office of Register and Recorder Hanna last week. Of this number 41 were deeds, and 21 were mortgages. Sixteen of the mortgages totaling $36,100, were given to building and loan associations; two, totaling $3,180 to individuals, two for $7500 each to a mortgage company and one to a trust company for $1200. Building and loan associations seem to be coming into a greater popularity with borrowers, as a majority of mortgages placed on record in recent months have been to such associations.

A scire facias sur mortgage has been issued by the Home Owners Loan Corporation against John P. and Nettie Wadlinger, the latter deceased, to collect a claim for $1,976.58. The original amount of the mortgage was $1,887.91.

St. Rocco Feast To Be Observed

Outdoor Celebration On South Jefferson Street, Friday And Saturday

With elaborate plans completed, Italian-American residents of the city are looking forward to Friday and Saturday, when the feast of St. Rocco will be observed on South Jefferson street with an outdoor celebration.

Friday's program includes a band parade through the principal streets and a band concert at eight o'clock, followed by a fireworks display at 10 o'clock on the B. & O. grounds. Activities Saturday morning will get under way at eight o'clock. At 10 o'clock high mass will be celebrated in St. Vitus church, with the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita as celebrant. A second band parade will take place Saturday morning following services.

Saturday evening a band concert will be presented at eight o'clock. Featuring the event will be speeches by some of New Castle's leading men. A mammoth fireworks display will end the celebration.

Chairman Andy Angelo had this to say relative to the coming occasion: "Final plans have been completed for one of the biggest outdoor celebrations in the history of the city. We invite everyone to attend the occasion."

The committee includes:

Andy Angelo, chairman; Pasquale Toscano, treasurer; Mrs. Congetta Leonardo, secretary; Mrs. Madaline Caiazza, Constantino Vitale, Giovanni DiAngelis, Joseph Scifelli, Bertha Pugliese, Maria Calaluga.

Good Job Done In Cleaning Senior High

School Ready For Host Of Students—Thorough Job Of Cleaning Finished

Never has the senior high school building received such a thorough cleaning and polishing as it received this summer.

All ready for the opening session of school on September 8, the building "shines like a bright new penny." All the floors have received a heavy coat of wax, the seats have been sanded and varnished. The desks throughout the building have been treated likewise.

All of the walls have been cleaned and many of them given a fresh coat of paint. The aroma of a new building greets one upon entering the school.

Professor Orth believes that the building has never been as finely cleaned in other years, and stated that a great deal of praise should go to the workmen who have been working while the students played.

CHEWTON

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Warship Leasing Plan Is Blunder

Latin Americans Aroused Over Lease Of Obsolete Ships To Brazil

UNDOES GOOD OF PRESIDENT

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull surely should have had better judgment than to imagine that unpleasant repercussions would not result from their plan to lease certain obsolete war vessels to Brazil.

Anyone with even a primary knowledge of South American international relationships should have been aware that the Argentine republic is intensely jealous of Brazil.

Yet apparently the Argentine reaction to Uncle Sam's program of warship leasing to the Brazilians has taken Washington quite by surprise. It is not an official reaction thus far, but it is more than sufficiently obvious in the Argentine press evidently to have nonplused the state department. That the scheme would outrage Argentine public opinion was as predictable, however, as it is predictable that 2 plus 2 will make 4.

WHY IT IS SURPRISING

The peculiar feature of the situation is that President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull have been unprecedentedly successful in their North American contacts with our South American brethren heretofore.

In the past a kind of northern brusqueness has characterized our dealings with our southern neighbors, and brusqueness, of all things, is what the Latin American resents. The Roosevelt administration seems to have sensed this, and has been at pains to be elaborately polite. This policy has been wonderfully successful. South America had begun to warm to us as never before.

Now we undoubtedly are in danger of having undone much of our previous good work.

Maybe some of Brazil is pleased—but not even all of Brazil.

Brazil is a very loose federation of states. The southern states frequently are in a state of insurrection against the central government. They do not enjoy the prospect of having the central government equipped to blockade their ports with North American war vessels.

Argentine, an entirely distinct country, still less fancies the idea of being corked up, in the event of a Brazilian-Argentine clash.

"OBSOLETE" WARSHIPS?

Brazil cannot cork up the Argentine, either, without outside help. It has not the resources to do so, but it might be able to do so with a few leased North American warships.

These warships are described, indeed, as "obsolete".

Nevertheless, a warship which, according to North American standards, is termed "obsolete", may be pretty formidable, according to Latin American standards.

Oh, yes, the lease, if effected, will provide that the leased ships must not be employed in American international warfare. Also such ships are to revert to the United States if we ever need them. But, at that, this very clause hints that the ships are not considered as, honest-to-goodness, obsolete.

So the Argentine press argues, anyway.

Its big newspapers are La Prensa, La Nacion and El Capital. I can quote them all.

BRAZIL ALSO FEARED

Brazil traditionally has been friendly to the United States.

That is all right, but the remainder of Latin America traditionally has been UN-friendly. Of late we have won over the remainder of Latin America—until just now. Now, by overdoing our friendship with Brazil, we are alienating the others, with whom we were beginning to make friends.

Latin America, remember, always has been afraid of us; we're so formidable.

But Latin America also is afraid of Brazil—it, too, is so big.

It is territorially larger than the continental United States. It has nearly 40,000,000 population, as compared with the 10,000,000 of the next most populous southern republic, Argentina.

Naturally the smaller countries shy away from an alliance between the "colossus of the north" and the petty colossus of Brazil.

It is not the Argentine alone; it is the remainder of them, too.

AS STEWART SEES IT

Briefly, Brazil wants to split this hemisphere, 50-50, with the United States.

It is an ambitious program.

But it will not work.

The state department that thinks it will is cuckoo. I am an old South American resident, and I say so.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council convened in session at city hall yesterday and adopted a recommendation offered by City Engineer Glenn R. Throop whereby the compensation of persons owing delinquent taxes was brought up to the same level as the partial restoration given city employes. For instance those men who furnish trucks for city work will be paid as follows: S truck $1.20 per hour; T truck, $1.45; U truck, $1.55; V truck, $1.65; W truck, $1.90; W truck, $2.15 and Z truck, $2.40. Unskilled labor will be paid 50 cents an hour; skilled labor, 55 cents and men who are employed in a supervisory capacity, 60 cents an hour. Councilman B. F. Butler stated that the new rate of pay was only just in view of the action taken by council some time ago to which Mayor Charles E. McGrath said that the new rate corresponds with the rates for regular employes.

Council has adopted a resolution whereby a sewer constructed by property-owners in Clenmore boulevard, was taken over by the city as part of the city sanitary sewer. The sewer leads from a point 375 feet of the east line of Highland avenue, proceeds westerly to and connection with the city system in Highland avenue.

Councilmanic colleagues of J. Myron Rice, public safety director, has given him authority to rent the Sixth ward fire department as a voting booth. . . . John Young, city detective has returned to his duties following a vacation. Several days ago he attended the Cleveland exposition. . . . Miss Maxine Gillespie, mayor's secretary, has returned to her desk following a vacation.

Escaped Prisoner Goes In Solitary

(International News Service)

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 17.—Recaptured after he fled over the walls of the Michigan State Penitentiary here Saturday night under gunfire from guards, John McAllister, Jr., 24-year-old Detroit hoodlum, was placed in solitary confinement Monday while prison officials launched a probe into the sensational jail break.

McAllister's three companions in the escapade also were in the dungeon.

Patrolmen William Mills and Frank Able captured McAllister on Sunday as the convict loitered in a city park.

Man Obliging, Robbed Of $205

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—Obliging Samuel Lakpgie offered to go to the corner drug store for some headache tablets Monday when a customer in his shoe repair shop complained of a severe headache.

While he was gone, Lakpgie told police, the customer, a man about 35, went to the rear room and took $205 he had hidden there and fled.

Sam took the headache tablets himself.

Slayer Of Girl Known To Police

Infatuated Young Man Kills Co-Ed As She Walks With Another On Campus

(International News Service)

BEREA, Ky., Aug. 17.—George E. Wells, 20-year-old Berea College sophomore, today was definitely named as the ambush slayer Sunday night of Opal Sturgell, 18, blonde and beautiful co-ed.

William Anderson, 19, who was walking with the girl on the campus when she was fatally wounded by gunfire, said he was certain that Wells was the man who fired the shots.

Earlier police had stated that the assailant had not been positively identified.

On Second 'Date'

But Monday after an all-night but futile search for Wells, Anderson, was on his second "date" with the girl when she was slain, said:

"Wells was the man. It was about 7:30 when Wells stepped out suddenly and pushed me aside. He grabbed Opal by the shoulder and shot her once in the breast. I jumped to try to help her, but he kept shooting and she slid from my arms to the walk.

"For a second I thought he was going to shoot me, as he started to raise his gun. Then he dropped his hand and ran."

Anderson said that earlier in the evening, Wells had accosted them, but that Miss Sturgell had refused to speak to him in private. Police said Wells apparently was infatuated with the young woman.

G. L. Cooper's Career Given In Obituary

'Editor And Publisher" Reveals Interesting History Of Deceased Editor

In an obituary carried in the current "Editor and Publisher" a magazine devoted to the newspaper profession the career of the late George L. Cooper is given. The obituary follows:

"A veteran of the managing editor's desk passed on this week when George Lottridge Cooper, 64, died at his home Aug. 9. Mr. Cooper, retired, had held his last post 20 years ago with the New York Telegram and the New York Herald as managing editor of both papers.

When James Gordon Bennett, Jr., who was directing the policies of both the Telegram and the Herald, died in 1918, Mr. Cooper severed all his connections with journalism and left his desk for all time.

Mr. Cooper won distinction in his New York newspaper experiences as the only man managing two metropolitan dailies at the same time. After Mr. Bennett had appointed him to handle the Evening Telegram, the Herald started to become an expensive proposition, and Mr. Bennett called Cooper to Paris just to tell him to return to New York and take over as ranking member of the "managing committee" which edited the Herald.

Slapped Bennett's Back

The editor's career began in the last decade of the nineteenth century, when he started on the New Castle (Pa.) Daily Guardian as reporter, city editor, and general helper. He left his family connections and the paper in New Castle two years later to join, merely by chance, the drama department of the New York Journal, just after the Spanish-American war. He went over to the same department on the New York American when that paper was founded, moved from there to the New York Herald under the direction of Thomas W. White, then the dramatic editor, and finally landed as drama editor of the Telegram.

When he brashly slapped Mr. Bennett on the back in Paris one day and took him for a tour of the town, members of the organization predicted Cooper's immediate downfall. Instead, his salary was doubled and he was appointed city editor of the Telegram, only to move up to the managing editor's desk some years later.

When the trustees of the Herald and the Telegram took the control of both papers after Mr. Bennett's death, Cooper left journalism altogether and joined Clarence H. Mackay to help Postal Telegraph recover its lines and cables from the post-war confusion.

SMALL AUTO FIRE CAUSE OF ALARM

Call In Solomon For This Tangle

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—A shoe shine boy, a preacher and a policeman went to the law Monday in a tempest over half-a-shoe shine, and got the law so confused they will have to wait a week for a decision.

But from the clatter and clamor in city judge Charles Booth's court the story went something like this:

Shoe shine boy Mike Ve Trana was brushing the shoes of the Rev. Varynn Sprague Patrolman Cecil Cooper came up and told Mike to get along. Only one of the Rev. Sprague's shoes had been shined. He objected. He said the policeman then kicked the boy's box from beneath his foot, jammed him against a wall and jabbed him in the ribs with a nightstick. The Rev. Sprague was arrested for "interfering with an officer."

In all the shouting by the principals, aided by indignant members of the Rev. Sprague's congregation, the judge called the whole thing off for a week.

Lawrence Mission Doing Worthy Work

Helpful Program Carried On At Little Center On Lawrence Street

The Lawrence Mission, located at 123 Lawrence street, has been carrying on a helpful program for several years among both the white and colored races of the city and its influence has steadily increased.

About thirty children assemble in the room each Sunday, many of them motherless. The service last Sunday was conducted by Fred Wilkes, a local youth, who gave a thoughtful, well prepared and well delivered talk.

The board of directors of the mission, Mrs. Jessie White, Carrie Robinson, Lettie Williams, Edward Lloyd and George Ashton, expresses great appreciation to the many friends of the organization for their generous contributions. The purpose of the mission is to administer the Gospel, to collect and distribute the necessities of life to the needy and provide temporary habitation for the destitute.

Italian-American Celebration Success

Several thousand frolicking persons occupied the entire southern end of Mahoningtown- Monday evening, to enjoy an elaborate program which featured Italian-American day celebration. The occasion went down into the annals of the Seventh ward as one of the biggest and most successful affairs in years.

The two day celebration opened with a preliminary program Sunday evening, featuring a program by the W. P. A. orchestra under the direction of Ben Shulansky and Harry Hammond. Early yesterday morning, the program continued with impressive services in St. Lucy's church. The Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito was celebrant. A capacity crowd was in attendance.

Following services, a parade proved one of the highlights. Headed by the Columbus band, which filled the air with delightful tunes, the paraders marched through the principal streets of the ward. During the afternoon, an exciting athletic program was presented. The various events were hotly contested and resulted in much merriment.

During the evening, addresses were delivered by several of the city's prominent men. Late in the evening, a colorful fireworks display ended the occasion. Seventh ward skies were lighted by one of the most attractive fireworks displays in years.

All in all, the Italian-American day celebration was a success from every standpoint and one that will be remembered for sometime.

Re-Enlists In Army Service At Post Here

Local Young Man Begins Seventh Year In Army Air Corps Service

At the end of a 30-day furlough granted upon his re-enlistment in the United States Army Air Corps Ben Leonelli, 1324 Croton avenue left Monday for the air corps in Hawaii.

Leonelli enlisted on July 22 and was immediately granted a 30-day furlough. His previous record in the army showed six years' service in the 19th Air Squadron at Langley Field, Va. The last 15 months of his enlistment before his discharge on March 24, 1936, were spent at Moffett Field, Calif.

According to Corporal George Trebesh, local recruiting officer, this man attended the local high school. He also stated that his period of enlistment is for three years, and that Leonelli is now enroute to Hawaii to join the air corps there.

Addition Is Made To Police Radio

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 30.—The Allentown police department's two-way radio system has been augmented to include an illuminated map of the city installed in the captain's office at city hall.

The map shops the districts covered by the five cruiser cars. Each district has been colored differently and a small light has been placed in each map section representing the various cars.

When a cruiser car is called to answer a complaint the desk sergeant on duty illuminates the proper light. As soon as the car reports "all is well" the light is extinguished. The system permits the control operator to keep a record of all cars that are answering calls.

JUST IN FUN

(International News Service)

FREMONT, O.—An irate husband here found his wife, missing from home for four days, asleep in a cafe.

He seized a chair and broke it across his sleeping wife's head. Then he broke a few of the cafe's glasses. A clerk called police.

Patrolman Joseph McCreery asked the wife if she would prefer damages.

"Nothing doing," she said, and the couple walked away arm in arm.

BOOTLEGGING ON INCREASE

(International News Service)

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Reminiscent of prohibition days was the recent report of James W. Thompson and Robert A. Gish, investigators for the Wyoming state liquor commission. During the period between April 1, 1936 and April 1, 1937, the report stated 254 persons were arrested for bootlegging. Of these, 222 were convicted and 187 paid fines.

Gigantic Shakeup For Army Planned Next Few Months

By CECIL B. DICKSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. — A shake-up in the army's high command that will result in a sweeping reorganization of the general staff was projected Monday at the war department.

Seven of the 21 ranking major generals will vacate important posts within a few months preparatory to retirement because of age. This will result in promotion of lower ranking officers, and one of the greatest turn-overs in history in the high ranking personnel.

Terms Expiring

Terms of four chiefs of arms and services, including that of Maj. Gen. Edward M. Markham, chief of engineers, expires within the next three months.

Whether President Roosevelt will reappoint General Markham, hand-picked in 1933 for the job because of his comparative young age, is the subject of much speculation. Markham's term expires October 1.

The term of Maj. Gen. Arthur W. Brown, judge advocate general, Maj. Gen. James B. Allison, chief signal officer, and Col. Alva J. Brasted, chief of chaplains, also expires soon.

Because of accumulated leave, retirement within the next few months due to age is scheduled for the following major generals:

W. D. Connor, superintendent of the West Point Military Academy.

Fox Conner, chief of the First Corps area at Boston.

Frank R. McCoy, chief of the Second Corps area at Governor's Island, N. Y., and former American peace representative in Nicaragua.

Andrew Moses, chief of the Hawaiian department.

W. E. Cole, chief of the 5th Corps area at Columbus, Ohio.

George Van Horn Moseley, chief of the Third Corps area, Atlanta, Ga.

George S. Simonds, chief of the Erth Corps area, Presidio, Calif.

With a third of the 21 major generalships becoming vacant within a year, it will be the largest turnover in the high command in peace time history.

War department officials also said the retirements will result in "promotions all down the line and new faces and new names in the army's high command."

With the exception of Major General Douglas MacArthur, former chief of staff and now assigned to the Philippines, none of the present chiefs was in command of a division in the World War.

MacArthur was the youngest general in the army and commanded the famous 42nd or Rainbow Division.

GIVES RULING IN FARRELL DAMAGE SUIT

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 17—Judge George H. Rowley, this morning filed an opinion in the case of Catherine Babich and Paul Babich against the City of Farrell, defendants, and Kasmo Czieriec and Blancne Czieriec, additional defendants.

He over ruled the position of the defendent for a new trial and upheld the verdict which had been returned for the plaintiff which awarded Mrs. Babich $681 for injuries sustained in a fall on an icy sidewalk in front of a store owned by Czierieo, French street, Farrell March 18, 1934, and the husband $319 for expenses incurred.

The city was also given a verdict against Czierieo for the amount of the verdict. It had been claimed that the ice on the sidewalk was due to a defective drainpipe which permitted roof water to run out on the sidewalk.

SENATORS BATTLING BLACK CONFIRMATION

Copeland Cites Klan Affiliation

Constitutional Hurdle Seems Easy But Leaders Fear Klan Charges

ADMINISTRATION CLAIMS VICTORY

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—An investigation to determine whether Senator Hugo L. Black, Alabama Democrat, is a life member of the Klu Klux Klan was demanded today by Senator Copeland (D) of New York, as the senate met to pass on the Alabaman's nomination as an associate justice of the supreme court.

Administration leaders predicted Black's confirmation by a big majority.

"Inquiry Justified"

Copeland declared the charges of Black's alleged membership in the secret order were so widely circulated, an inquiry was justified. He added no Klansman was worthy of service on the supreme court because of the KKK's "discrimination against Catholics, Jews, negroes and the foreign born."

A bipartisan bloc of senators meanwhile prepared attacks on Black's eligibility for the appointment. They contended the retirement act, under which associate justice Willis Van Devanter retired, created a new tenth position on the court and that under the constitution, Black was prohibited from accepting appointment to a position created during his term in the senate.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, persisted also in his contention there is no vacancy on the court. He asserted Van Devanter, while retiring, remained a justice and that the retirement act failed to increase the membership of the court.

Administration spokesmen countered with the argument that if a new position was created, it was the post of a retired justice which Van Devanter took. They insisted he had relinquished his active post on the bench and that Black's appointment was constitutional.

Administration forces, plainly confident of confirming Black, were unconcerned over the constitutional objections raised by his opponents. They were far more worried about public reaction to the opposition's effort to brand Black a Klansman.

Denounces Klan

"I intend to denounce the idea of a Klansman or an alleged Klansman going on the supreme court," Copeland said. "If there is one thing more sacred than anything else in that constitution of ours, it is the bill of rights with its guarantees for freedom of religious worship according to the dictates of one's conscience, of free speech and of a free press.

"These rights are in the hearts of our people. And if I understand the obligations of the Klu Klux Klan, it is that they seek to discriminate against Catholics, Jews, negroes and the foregin-born. How can a member of the Klan sit on a bench of justice and deal fairly with the interests of these groups, when he is pledged to discriminate against them? He can't!"

Alleged Larceny Case Is Dropped

At a short session of court held by Judge James A. Chambers this morning, District Attorney Mont L. Ailey presented a petition for nolle pros in the case of Thelma Hilberry charged with larceny. The motion stated that the stolen property had been found, and that the evidence as to whom had stolen it was uncertain.

Noted Here And There In Other Newspapers

The Tail Waggers club, an imported British institution, offers 24-hour service to Washington, D. C., residents who have lost their dogs. An annual fee of $1 is charged to members.

When Dominic Capellupo of North Rochester, completes a sentence of eighteen months in the workhouse, imposed by the Lawrence county courts for illegal manufacture of liquor in Lawrence county, he will have the same charge to face in Beaver county. Officers in Beaver county had been looking for Capellupo and his wife ever since their home at North Rochester was destroyed in a moonshine still explosion last December. It was only a few days ago they located him behind the bars. A detainer was placed against him to be returned to Beaver county when his term is concluded, and Mrs. Capellupo was jailed to await charges of illegal manufacture.

When a newspaper cameraman stepped up to photograph Louise Wolkov, 24, and Jack Warren, 25, at Cleveland, O., because they were the first marriage license-seeking couple to brave the Friday 13th jinx at the county court house, they decidede it might not be such a bad idea to wait until the 14th.

Contrary to the advice of lovelorn experts, girls who have jobs before marriage are the most likely to enjoy a successful wedded life, according to studies of the department of rural social organization at Cornell university. The poorest bet of all for a happy marriage, the department avers, is the girl who, after finishing school, stays at home and has no responsibility either in the home, in business or in the community.

"Do you know what day this is?" asked Beaver County Detective C. J. O'Laughlin as he discovered George Cook, colored, operating a still in Hopewell township. "No, suh," replied Cook. "Well, it is Friday the 13th," he was told. "Lordy, Lordy, if I had known that, I'd never started this still up today." O'Laughlin, accompanied by Aliquippa police, destroyed 200 gallons of mash and confiscated a small quantity of moonshine and the 30-gallon still. Cook had $47 in his pocket, which indicated business had been good, police said.

Sonny, a milk wagon horse of Quincy, Mass., who knows each stop on George Derey's route, also observes traffic signals—even while running away. The horse, while delivering milk, decided to return to the stable. It sneaked off while George wasn't looking. During its flight, however, it halted at all red traffic lights and started again on the green.

Signs such as "get lit at the lighthouse" found no favor today with State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner D. Frederick Burnett of New Jersey. In ordering Mrs. Minerva Dora Wetzlar of Asbury Park to remove that sign from her place of business, Burnett admitted it was a catchy phrase but pointed out that if he permitted its display "we would be flooded with signs such such as 'Get soused at Sousa's,' 'Stewed at Stevart's' or 'Pie-eyed at the Pianola'."

Barbers Request Hours Regulation

Barbershop Proprietors and Journeymen barbers Monday appeared before city council and requested that the city by legislation regulate the hours of opening and closing in the city. The petition, signed, the spokesman, Frank Fazzone said, by 95 percent of all the barbers. William Llewelyn, also a spokesman, said such legislation would promote the health of barbers. Council has the right to take such action under a bill passed by the legislature, the petitioners stated.

Accompanying the petition was a proposed ordinance. Councilman Fink referred the petitions to the solicitor for an opinion and the bill was sent to committee after the city clerk said he would place the name of Councilman Rice on the bill as having introduced it, in order that it could go to committee.

Anniversary For South Side Club

Forteith Anniversary Of Casa Savoia Society Is Impressive Event

Forty years of continuous growth and success were fittingly observed on Sunday by members of the Casa Savoia society.

On August 15, 1897, the South Side Italian society was organized. Since then, the club has been one of the leading groups in the city.

The occasion got underway Sunday morning when more than 300 members attended special services in St. Vitus church. The Sons of Italy band headed the group. Following impressive services, the members assembled in the clubrooms, 923 South Mill street, for an informal party. During the affair, President John Cassacchia, gave an interesting account of the history of the Casa Savoia society. Mr. Casacchia, organizer, together with a few members, incorporated the Casa Savoia society in 1897. Today the club is one of the largest in the county. Mr. Casacchia served for many years as president and held several other offices.

The club was recently decorated and repainted by V. Ginocchi. As a climax, delicious refreshments were served.

A total of 19,626,000 acre feet of water was impounded in U. S. federal reservoirs on May 1, 1937, 7,000,000 feet more than on May 1, 1936.

Continue To Install Meters

Parking Meters Will Be Installed In Long Avenue, Mayor Says

TWO HUNDRED AND SIXTY NOW INSTALLED

Approximately 260 parking meters have been installed in the city according to City Engineer Glenn R. Throop's report to council during their meeting at the city building Monday.

After the report Mayor Charles E. McGrath spoke of the benefits the meters already have brought and added that Saturday night shopping by autoists was aided by the meters.

He said that the first week would prove the most difficult for autoists owing to their unfamiliarity with the meters. However, he anticipates the motorists soon will become used to the meters.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander said he believes that sufficient meters now have been installed for trial purposes and would be opposed to more than 500.

When Mayor McGrath was asked if meters would be installed in Long avenue, he replied in the affirmative. He also said the contract called for 500 or more.

Throughout the morning city workers started to remove half hour parking signs in East Washington street because auto parking time limit for five cents is 60 minutes according to the new traffic ordinance.

Meters will be installed in North Mercer street and also in North Mill street north of Washington street this afternoon providing sufficient progress can be made by the installers

Riot Occurs As Carnival Leaves

(International News Service)

MIDDLETON, Pa., Aug. 17.—About a score of persons nursed minor cuts and bruises Monday, the result of an hour-long riot which ended the carnival spirit of this ordinarily quiet borough after a woman was reported to have been "cheated" at one of the carnival concessions.

The fre-for-all saw clubs, stones, bottles and fists wielded freely and required the combined efforts of state motor police, local officers and firemen to restore quiet. The fire company had sponsored the week-long carnival. The riot occurred early Sunday, just as the show was ready to "break up."

Plan To Close Memorial Bridge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Failure of floor slabs at two points will shortly force partial closing of the $3,000,000 Allegheny County Westinghouse Memorial bridge, largest span of its kind in the United States it was revealed Monday.

E. E. Brandon, chief bridge engineer of the state highway department at Harrisburg, attributed the weakness to an error in design.

Notorious Gunman Is Slain By Police

Alfred Lambs, 26, Slain At Hot Springs, Arkansas, Wife At His Side

(International News Service)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 17—With the slaying of Alfred Lambs, 26, police Monday crossed off the name of one of the worst out-laws in the South.

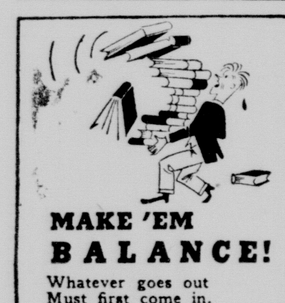

Lamb was trapped in his hideout here late Sunday and shot down by a posse of law officers as he reached for a gun. At his side and narrowly missed by the leaden hail from the police guns was Lamb's pretty brunette wife.

The outlaw was accused of several bank robberies in North Carolina and Texas and suspected of at least one murder.

Several hours before he was slain detectives captured his alleged partner in crime, Carl Harrison without firing a shot. Harrison was seized in his honeymoon cottage at Benton, thirty miles from here. He married a Benton girl a month ago under an assumed name. Police said she had no knowledge of her husband's criminal career.

Patrol Member Has Red Face

(International News Service)

WILDWOOD, N. J., Aug. 17.—Ed. Morton, a member of the beach patrol here, Monday was a hero with a red face.

With two other patrol members he sprang to the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stott and Howard Stewart, all of Hatfield, Pa., when they called for help. A few minutes later Morton was in a dire predicament himself. During the rescue he lost his swimming trunks!

He was "rescued" by fellow members of the beach patrol.

French Actress Robbery Victim

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17—"Pass key" burglars broke into the home of Ketti Gillian, French film star, and stole clothes and jewels valued in excess of $20,000, she told police Monday.

The actress said she discovered the burglary when she retired after week-ending in Santa Barbara, Cal. Among the missing articles were six sable furs valued at $1,000 each and imported perfume worth more than $1,000.

COWS IN GOOD FLESH WILL GIVE MORE MILK

Cows due to freshen during the fall months should be well fed now if maximum production and greatest profit during the winter months are desired. Good cows are hard-working animals during their milking periods, and it pays well to give them a rest and prepare them for their winter's work.

Cows should be dried off about two months before freshening and if at all thin they should have full rations until a short time before the calf is due. If pasture is short there should be supplemental feeding of hay, silage, or some green crop, such as soybeans, corn, or sudan grass. In addition the cows should be given sufficient grain to get them into good condition. A good fitting ration is a mixture of 100 pounds corn meal, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds of bran, and 50 pounds of oil meal. If pasture is abundant or if legume hay is used, the oil meal may be reduced in amount or omitted altogether.

Cows freshening in good flesh and will fed during the lactation period will give enough extra milk to pay twice over for all extra feed used to get them into good condition for freshening. A full ration now will help to insure a full milk pail later.

SELECT YOUR RAM EARLY FOR FLOCK IMPROVEMENT

The progressive farmer is beginning to think about the ram he is going to use this fall.

It is wise to select the ram early in the season. At this time better rams are available because they have not as yet been picked over. Early selection also gives the ram a chance to become acclimated to the new conditions before he is turned in with the flock.

If the ram is thin or pasture is short, he should be fed some grain for 3 or 4 weeks before the breeding season. Two parts of oats, one part of bran, and one part of pea cake oil meal make a very satisfactory ration for this purpose.

A number of purebred ram sales are on the calendar this month. The Cumberland County Wool Growers' Association will sell 30 purebred rams at Mount Hol · August 14. The Susquehanna County Wool Growers' Association will stage a ram sale at Montrose August 19, and the Indiana County Wool Growers Association will have a sale at the fair grounds at Indiana on September 11. Approximately 90 purebred rams will be sold at auction through these three sales. Many sheepmen have found the sale of convenient place to get good rams. They remember that a ram is half the flock.

HARVEST CLOVER SEED IF CROP LOOKS GOOD

Farmers who bought red clover seed last spring have not forgotten how much it cost.

Because of poor stands of clover secured last year especially in the Mid-West, due to drougth, the red clover seed crop this year promises to be short and a magnifying glass will not be necessary to read the figures on the price tag next spring.

Stands of second crop which may be expected to produce a fair yield of clean seed may prove more profitable harvested for seed than cut for hay or pastured.

Locally grown clover seed is much more certain to give a good hardy stand than foreign seed or that of unknown or doughtful origin.

Warm, sunny weather when the clover is in bloom promotes better pollenization and a good set of seed through the activities of insects. Bumblebees are amont the most important pollenizers of red clover but other insects also play a part.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR BUDDING GARDEN ROSES

During the latter part of July, the month of August, and the early part of September is the best time for the amateur to bud roses.

In budding, a single bud taken from the rose plant is transferred to the under stalk of such roses as Rosa rugosa, Rosa manetti, Rosa multiflora or Rosa odorata. The above-mentioned under stalks are propagated by cuttings which are made in the fall, bundled together, and burried upricht in the ground. In the following spring the under stalks should be planted in a nursery row in the garden. After that they will be ready for budding at the time mentioned. All eyes should be removed in order that the nourishment can be diverted into the newly placed bud.

When the bud is cut from the variety selected a leaf bud is used. These leaf buds may be found present in the axils of the leaves. The leaf stem is cut off to within one-half to three-fourths of an inch. A sharp budding knife is then placed about one-fourth to one-half inch below the junchtion of the main branch and petiole or leaf stem. The cut is made upward in such a manner that a piece of the hard wood attached to the underside of the plant is taken off.

A "T" shaped section is made near the base of the under stalk at the portion directly above ground. In making this "T" shape the cut should be made in such a manner that only the bark is loosened. The bud taken from the variety to be perpetuated is then inserted carefully into the opening so that it occupies approximately the same position as it had before removing it from its own plant. After the bud has been inserted securely, raffia which has been thoroughly soaked in water should be used to tie the bud and overlapping bark in place. Tying of the raffia should be made tightly enough to keep the bud from slipping out.

At the end of a few weeks, if the budding has been successful the newly inserted leaf bud will show signs of growth. When this has occurred the raffia should be loosened or cut away entirely from the budded section.

Many interesting yet freakish combinations can be obtained by the amateur gardener by budding different varieties on one bush.

To be successful in the budding of roses two things must be remembered. The wood must be well matured and not more than two years old and the old stem must be in condition so that the bark is loose.

STURDY CONSTRUCTION SAVES TIME IN MENDING

Mending the family's clothing consumes many an hour of the busy mother's time. Sturdy material, frim construction, and buttons properly sewed on are especially desirable for children's clothing and will mean less time spent in mending, according to Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative.

Place children's pockets low enough on the garments so the child's hands cannot push them down and make them large enough to hold the clenched fist. For grown-ups, apron pockets placed on the left side are less apt to catch on door knobs and pump handles. Reinforce patch pockets with double stitching at each side of the top.

Sew buttons and snap fasteners on firmly. If the garment is ready made, do this before it is worn. Buttons should be never sewed on a single thickness of material, but should be reinforced with a piece of twilled tape or a strip of the material stitched to the back of the garment. Buttons on coats are reinforced by sewing small buttons on the wrong side of the garment directly under the large ones. Hems in dresses are made by hand, both for the sake of appearance and ease in changing.

Sheer hose should be saved for dress occasions. Silk hose with cotton feet will require less mending. Examine the inside of shoes for rough places and nails which are causing holes.

STORE CANNED FOODS FROM LIGHT AND DIRT

After canning the winter's supply of vegetables and fruits this summer we want to see it stored away very carefully. Storage space for canned foods can be planned so that it is compact and protects the jars from dirt and light. The room should be cool, dry, and well ventilated, says Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative.

Additional space can be provided by putting a narrow shelf between the wider ones.

When planning a new cupboard, allow various spaces between the shelves to store the many sized jars. Calculate this distance by adding 2 inches to the height of the containers. Shelves for pint jars would be 7 inches apart and for quart jars 9 inches apart.

Nineteen feet of shelving will store 100 quart jars when it is wide enough for 2 rows. For jelly glasses 9 feet will store 100 glasses with 3 rows on a shelf. Start shelves 9 inches from the floor and extend not over 72 inches high.

Sliding doors will protect these jars from the dirt and light. If the grooves are kept waxed the doors will slide easily. Roller shades of oil cloth will serve the same purpose on a small cupboard for jellies and jams.

Plan space for a gift shelf in this storage cupboard. Here can be placed jellies, conserves, pickles, and vegetables which have been sealed in attractive jars with special care. Then when the occasion comes, be it Christmas, illness of a neighbor, or a visit from a city friend, you have these jars ready for the last minute wrapping.

State Airplane Leaves Saturday

Captain Herbine Returns For State Airplane Which Was Grounded Here

Captain R. G. Herbine returned to New Castle from Harrisburg Saturday afternoon to get the airplane which was grounded at the local airport.

Captain Herbine made the return trip to this city in an army biplane. The plane which he came to take back to the capital city was one belonging to the state of Pennsylvania.

This plane arrived in New Castle over a week ago, bearing officers who were delegates to the 28th Division convention held here. Weather conditions prohibited the return flight of the state ship and its passengers returned to Harrisburg by automobile.

Weather did not permit the return for the ship until Saturday. The two ships, the state plane and the army bi-plane, made a very successful take-off on the new airport runway and headed immediately for Harrisburg.

Examination For Citizenship Held

About One Hundred Petitioners For Naturalization On Present List

W. C. McDougall, of the naturalization department at Pittsburgh, was at the Lawrence county court house Monday examining applicants for preliminary papers. There are about one hundred applicants to be examined.

In his examination the examiner asks the applicant whether or not he belongs to any communistic or other organizations of similar kind. All of the applicants claimed that they do not belong to any such organizations.

Another question is whether or not they have ever been arrested, and if so, the nature of the crime and the disposition of the case.

Petitioners who have wives living in the old country are required to tell how much money is being sent to them. Receipts for money sent during the past few months are also required.

The usual questions regarding our form of government, local, state and national, form a part of the examination. Applicants are also asked who is president of the United States and who is governor of Pennsylvania. Most of the applicants were able to answer the questions satisfactorily, but some were told to study up and come again.

Each applicant is required to have two witnesses who are willing to testify as to the reputation of the applicant.

Hunt Negroes In Brutal Attack On Girl In Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—A mass roundup of negro loop workers was in progress Monday as police intensified their hunt for the brutal assailant of Miss Virginia Austen, 25, a New York artist.

The intruder crept into Miss Austen's hotel room while she was asleep and beat her insensible with a brick before she could cry out. He attacked her while she was unconscious and then emptied her purse before escaping by the window through which he entered.

It was the second attack to occur in the hotel within the past year.

A pool swim and a lunch brought it to a close.

Will Re-Classify Cathedral Area

Attorney Harvey Martin and John P. Lockhart appeared before city council Monday morning at their city hall meeting and asked that the Cathedral grounds be made a business district, because of the leasing of the auditorium for motion picture purposes to Charles Freeman. At present the building and grounds are in a residential district.

On motion of Councilman Fink, and seconded by Councilman Butler the solicitor was ordered to draft the requirements necessary to grant the request. All of council was in favor of the move, Mayor McGrath stating that the building has been a wonderful asset to the city and asked that someone make the motion to grant the request which Fink did.

THREE PAY FINES

Rufus Henderson, colored, paid a five dollars fine before Mayor Chas. E. McGrath in police court Monday for having acted disorderly in South Jefferson St., Sunday night according to police. Pilot And Student Killed In Crash

(International News Service)

STOCKTON, Cal., Aug. 17.—A weakened wing was blamed in a plane crash which killed Rodney McCallum, 42, veteran pilot instructor, and his pupil, Ferdinand Kelly, 22, of Sonora, Cal.

According to two farmers who witnessed the fatal plunge into a rice field, a part of the plane's wing broke off in mid-air.

It was the first flight for young Kelly.

Returns To Ireland After Summer Visit

Retired School Teacher, Here For Three Months, Sails Friday

After a three-month visit at the home of her brother here, Miss Lydia Barnes, now on the pension rolls of Ireland's school system, will leave New Castle on Wednesday to board a liner at New York for the return voyage home.

Miss Barnes had been visiting with W. J. Barnes, the brother, at his Patterson avenue home. She will see other relatives in Pittsburgh before going to New York to take her boat. She will sail on the Caledonia.

The visit to the United States is the second for Miss Barnes, who lives in Lisburn, Ireland. She made her visit 24 years ago.

Old Timers To Play Wednesday

Old Time City Softball Players Over 30 Will Stage Game

There is going to be a softball game at the Radiator Field on Wednesday night at 6 o'clock for the Old Timers who played in the City Softball league years and years ago. You must be 30 years or over to be eligible for play.

"Fiz" Fraser is going to captain one of the teams and Bob Hamilton the other team. There is a lot of interest in the coming game. It will be humorous no doubt to see some of these old timers try to hit the ball far enough to get down to first base, especially the boys with the big stomachs.

Old Timers Invited

The following are invited to play in the game tomorrow night: "Fiz" Fraser, Bob Hamilton, Ray McBride, Quigley, Chet Shaffer, Brin Richards, George Shaklee, Baskeyfield, Gus Thompson, Ray Cutler, Charles Rich, Gerald Earl, Murphy, Fred "Pinch "Red" Davis, Charley Allen, Howard Gresham, Lauri Laurell, Miz Dart, Norm Buckingham, Norman McFarland, Minner, Titus Monath, George Marks, Tom Donegan, Ted Clark, Tom Davis, Vern Carr, Bill Trick, Bill Robinson, Eddie Van Dusen, C. M. England Skinner Drushel, Bill Eroe, Doc McConahy, Flip McConahy, Frank Johnson, Ray Rhodes, Lou Harlan, Jokey Travers, George Harper, Mickey Rohrer, Al Owens, Eddie Connery, Bill Andrews, Pick Glitch, Glen Fox, Wege Genkinger, Jimmy Carson, Preston Carson, Alec Black, John Mariacher.

DiMaggio-Louis Discuss Sports

(International News Service)

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Aug. 17. A new friendship in the sports world was in bloom today between two famous Joes—DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, champions of the baseball universe, and Louis, champion of the prize ring.

DiMaggio, an ardent boxing fan, visited the Brown Bomber at his training camp here with the idea of discussing fighting. But Louis, an even more ardent fan where baseball is concerned, asked the Italian slugger so many questions about diamond doings that the conversation never did get around to boxing.

Rads Too Much For All Stars

National Rads Chalk Up 45th Straight By 18-6 Count, Monday

Battling the cream of New Castle softball players, the National Radiators registered their 45th consecutive victory Monday night at National Radiator field, walloping the City Softball League All Stars, The score 18-6.

Gairdo was on the mound for the Rads and allowed but 7 hits, Tony Capp and Bob Carson teamed up and gave the fence bursting Rads 15 blows. So accurate were the Rads bats that they scored in every inning but one. In the fifth, they managed to push over 6 runs and in the seventh, 6 runs came across.

The following played with the All Stars: Capp, Carson, N. Russo, B. Augostine, Teplica, F. Copple, J. Fava, Alfera, Jones, Zingaro, S. Ritchie Goclano, Turco, and Lombardo. Frank Copple and John Teplica had two hits apiece for the All Stars. For the Rads, Peach Fornataro, Austin, Cowmeadow and Eddie Hilton rapped out three hits. Greene made three runs.

Pirates-Cubs Battle Today

First Place Cubs May Run Into Something Tough In Pittsburgh Today

YANKS-SENATORS PLAN TO BATTLE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Two weeks ago, the major league baseball races, to every intent and all practical purposes, were over, with the Yankees and Cubs almost "in." Today, there seemed better than a bare chance that they might be just beginning.

The Washington Senators, for instance, are coming to the stadium here for a double header this afternoon behind a winning streak of eight straight. The world's champion Yankees are coming home behind a losing streak of three. That ought to make something. It might even start to make a race out of the American league.

Pirates Vs. Cubs

In Pittsburgh today, it will be equally interesting to see what happens when those cricket bowlers the cubs seem to have pitching for them at the moment meet up with some robust Pirate hitting, just off a double win over the Cardinals on Sunday. The Cubs, leading now by four games over the Giants in the National league, have just finished a series with some ukulele hitters from Cincinnati in which the latter hit everything except the jack-pot at Mr. Mulvhill's refined shoppe, or joint.

I don't wish to look like Mohammed on his way to the molehill, but when the Yankees can blow three straight to the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago pitching gives up 54 runs in the last seven games, I do feel that this is not their moment for bright, breezy banter. It could be, in fact, the start of that long-deferred Yankee slump and, for the Cubs, a repetition of recent National league history in which the imminent winner in July becomes the ultimate loser in September.

Play Night Game

We'll know more about that in the next few days with the Giants in there haggling with the Boston Bees and the White Sox playing the Detroit Tigers at Chicago. They are respectively 10 and 10½ games back of the Yanks. If either the Sox or the Tigers can come on now, while the Yankees don't, we may not have a finish in the American league; but we'll at least have a pursuit.

The Cards, 8½ games back in the National league, are playing a night game in Cincinnati—for the novelty. The Phils and Dodgers are playing in Brooklyn for last money. The Tigers and White Sox are playing for second place in the American league, with the former now leading by a half-game. The Indians and Browns are playing at St. Louis for the petty cash. So are the Red Sox and Athletics in Philadelphia.

There were no games yesterday.

West Side Indies Trip Nationals

The West Side Indies handed the Polish Nationals a 10 to 5 defeat yesterday at Glasser field. Smolnik and Ostrosky did the pitching for the Nationals and were clubbed for 16 hits by the slugging West Siders.

Chiafullo did the heaving for the winners and let the Polish boys down with seven hits. Chiafullo fanned nine men in winning his victory.

Score by innings:

West Side ..... 220 311 1—	10	16	2
Nationals ..... 200 000 3—	5	7	2

Honolulu Tennis Champ Defeated At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17—All but one seeded player today had successfully hurdled the first day's play in the fifteenth annual National Public Parks Tennis championships here.

An upset was handed Bo Ming Yee, men's singles champion of Honolulu, however, when he fell before Bob Patterson of Tulsa, Okla., in straight sets by 8-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Yee was last of a group of eight ranking performers while his conconqueror was unseeded. The rest of the favored contingent came thru without much difficulty, with the exception of Ronald Lubin, of Los Angeles, No. 3, who was carried four sets by Lanky Charles Thompson of New York before winning 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Louis Wetherell, No. 1 from Santa Ana, Calif., and W. C. McLaney No. 2 of New Orleans, were not called upon to compete.

Today's program calls for play in three divisions as women's singles and men's doubles are added to the card.

CELETICS WIN GAME

The Celetics won their eighth victory of the year at Gaston Park field by taking the measure of the Gaston Park Midgets 13 to 10. On the mound for the victors was Mariacher. B. James was the losing hurler.

East Side To Play Old Timers

Old Timers From Terrace, Church League Combine Vs. East Side

East Side Merchants will play the combined old-timers of the Terrace A. C. and Church league according to Manager Charles Probst's letter, received this morning. Judging from the two line-ups submitted it was believed by the sports staff that the old-timers were to play against each other. However this is wrong. It will be Merchants vs Old-Timers, Thursday at 6 p. m. on Lehigh field.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fistic enthusiasts of this vicinity can have an opportunity tonight of seeing Tiger Jack Fox, conqueror of Jack Trammel, in action at Idora Park because he has been mated for 10 rounds with Eddie Malcom of New York City. Since defeating Trammel the Spokane fighter has defeated Red Ruce, Lorenzo Pack, Leo Kelley and other scappers. Pack is the heavyweight whom Jack Johnson boomed for a time. Malcom has won from Lou Poster, Don Petrin, Yustis Sirotis and according to reports, upset Joe Louis during a training bout before Louis defeated Jimmie Braddock and won the world's heavyweight crown. Four other bouts will be staged, the first bell ringing at 8:15 p. m.

Harry Ward, Hilbert Reynolds and Lester Reynolds have returned from a fishing expedition to Deer Bay, Ont., Canada and judging from their catch they had considerable success. They got three muskies and a lot of nice bass.

Games Tonight In City League

Four Games On Schedule For Tonight, Board Of Trade At Ryantown Field

There will be four games played in the City Baseball league tonight. The games will start at 6 o'clock.

The league leading Colored Elks will play at Glasser field, opposing the fast K. Pulaski team. J. Soho o. Mrozek will do the pitching for the Oaklanders and either Garsides or Sammy Gray for the Elks.

West Pittsburg will go to the E & A. field to play the Mahoning A. A. team. Braky or "Dutch" Hill will start for the West Pittsburgs. For the Mahoning team it will be either "Monk" Rainey or Forgione.

The Lawrence Indies will go to Lee avenue field to oppose the Sixth Ward Firemen. Balla, Carik or Savage will go to the knoll for the Cedar Streetians. For the Firemen it will be either Huston or Faller.

Instead of the Ryantown-Board of Trade playing at Rosena field the game will be played at the Ryantown field owing to the fact that the Rosena field is not in shape for play. "Spud" Badurik or Hartman will take the mound assignment for the Ryantowns, with Brightshue or Turco the heavers for the Traders.

Notables Play Softball Game

Gene Tunney, Lowell Thomas, Frank Buck, Frank Hawks, Anna May Wong In Game

FIREMEN'S FUND SWELLED $2,500

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Eighteen noted writers, artists, aviators, explorers et all staggered to their daily toil with aching arms and creeking joints Monday after indulging in a charity game of softball.

But the chief "casualty" was Anna May Wong, Chinese actress who was pressed into service as umpire. Clad in an evening gown, she was unable to get out of the way fast enough when a pop fly came along and was "beaned."

Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion who pitched for the "prehistoric sluggers," had nothing more than a prayer on the ball and took more punishment during the afternoon then he did in many of his bouts.

Players Exhausted

The game lasted only seven innings because all hands were exhausted by that time. The official scorer had lost track of the score but said he thought the sluggers had lost to the "nine old men," headed by Lowell Thomas, by about 15 to 12.

Several fat men brought their wives along to run bases for them, but this was not allowed.

The players included McClelland Barclay, Frank Hawks, Frank Buck, Hendrick Van Loon, Col. Stoopnagle of radio fame, and Quentin Reynolds.

The game was played at Suburban Poundridge for the benefit of the volunteer fire department there, attracting 5,000 spectators and netting $2,500.

Mechanicals Top New Castle Works

The Mechanicals defeated the New Castle Works softball team last night in a league game at Flats field 4 to 3. The feature of the game was the clouting of Harlan and the pitching of Frank Babs who gave the works to the New Castle Works to the extent of five measly little hits.

Babs fanned 13 of the New Castle Works boys. Harlan and Bullisco won the game for the Mechs in the first of the seventh by hitting doubles. The Neyman brothers featured the hitting in the game by each hitting homers.

Score by innings:

Universals Top Old Timers 10-3

The Universal A. A. varsity softball team handed the Old Timers a 10 to 3 defeat last night at the Rose avenue field. The other night the varsity team took the measure of the Old Timers 8 to 7. Last night Joe Fortune pitched for the Universal A. A. and Harry Summers for the Old Timers. Summers did a swell job of tossing.

J. Louis Comiskey, owner of the club, said Dykes had been given a substantial salary raise in reward for his feat of keeping the Sox in the first division.

Strollers Defeat Croton Players

Game At Rose Avenue Field Goes In Favor Of Strollers Against Crotonites

The East Side Strollers mushball team defeated the Crotonites 4-3, in a game at the Rose avenue field, Monday evening.

The fine pitching of Bob "Sy" Carson, who permitted but four hits, was a great factor in winning the game. The Great Irvine Rubeis, who regularly pitches for the Rads, rated as the greatest team ever developed in New Castle, allowed eight hits during the game.

Mike Isabella was the best bet for the losers, having two hits, while Hub Riley had two hits for the Strollers.

The defeat last night, was Irvin Rubeis first defeat this season in New Castle.

Wilfred A. Gibson Is Presented Award

Winner Of State V. F. W. Contest Is Awarded Medal

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—In the presence of forty V. F. W. auxiliary members and guests from Pittsburgh, Sharon and New Castle, Wilfred Alan Gibson, fourteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gibson, of Wurtemburg Heights, was presented a medal by Mrs. Blanche Smith, of Mt. Oliver, department Americanization chairman, at a meeting held last evening in the V. F. W. hall.

Wilfred won the local contest which was conducted in the city schools throughout the United States, the subject being, Permanent Peace for America. The essay was judged by prominent men and women of this city. It was then sent to the state contest board winning first honors and is now before the national board for recognition, the decision of which will be revealed in two weeks.

Mrs. Smith spoke of the honor and publicity this lad has brought to Ellwood City throughout the state and paid glowing tribute to him as a scholar and said she was sure Ellwood would receive greater honors through him in future years.

After accepting the medal, the winner in turn presented Mrs. Smith with a four leaf clover for success in her work.

Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, of Pittsburgh, past national president, was the next speaker and she gave a most interesting talk on what these contests are doing for young people.

Mrs. Violet Nicklas, senior vice, presided in the absence of president, Mrs. Mary Wolman, who has been very ill at her home in Pershing street for two weeks.

A program followed with Mrs. Stanley Haddock, chairman, and included:

Tribute to the flag—Mrs. Evelyn Woods, New Castle.

Song, "America"—auxiliary.

Reading, "Lucy Smith and the Insurance Man"—Mrs. Zella Goodwill.

Military dance—Bonnie Lee Bolt.

Song, "My Old Kentucky Home—auxiliary.

Reading, "The Belle of Carrot Corners"—Mrs. Victor Koach.

Goofus dance—Bonnie Lee Bolt.

After the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Nettie Donaldson and her committee in the dining room, the tables being made attractive with pretty arrangements of garden flowers.

Mrs. Haddock, on behalf of the auxiliary, presented the guest speakers and Mrs. Clyde Gibson, with lovely corsages.

Guests of the evening were: Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, Mrs. Myrtle Byers, Mrs. Betty Miller, Mrs. Helen Gollinger, Mrs. Harry Torstshel, Mrs. Florence Maxwell, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Twila Bolt, of Sharon and Mrs. Evelyn Woods, of New Castle.

Plans were made to hold a picnic for the auxiliary and veterans on Saturday, September 11, with the place to be determined. The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 7.

At the meeting last evening, Miss Delilah Kingston, conducted the devotional period which was followed by the study course, "Alcohol, What It Is and What It Does." Fourteen members attended.

Store Employees Have Picnic Event

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—One of the most enjoyable picnic events of Monday evening took place at Ewing Park grove, when the employees of the North Side Market assembled for a picnic.

At 6 o'clock, they partook of a palatable dinner, after which accordian selections played by Jerry Alfonso were most appreciated.

Later in the evening the group motored to the home of Frank Bruno, of East New Castle, where the hours were passed in a pleasantly informal manner.

CALLS EVENTS

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—This evening members of the Willing Workers class of the Wurtemburg United Presbyterian church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Irvin Dolter, of Riverview, with Mrs Victor Koach, as associate hostess.

Members of the Adult Bible classes of the North Sewickley Presbyterian church will hold a combined meeting on Friday evening at the church at 8 o'clock.

On Friday, members of the Mary Pollock Bible class of the Wurtemburg Methodist church will motor to Pittsburgh where they will be guests of a former member of the class, Mrs. A. M. Doak. Rev. Doak was formerly pastor of the Wurtemburg church.

W. M. SOCIETIES

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—Mrs. James Jennings will receive members of the Women's Missionary society of the Knox Presbyterian church at her home, at North Sewickley, this evening. Mrs. Hugh Hardie will be leader.

A postponed meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Providence Baptist church of North Sewickley will be held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Agnes Stevenson, of Frisco. It will be an all-day meeting with a luncheon at noon.

Card Of Thanks

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The sports world whirls into September with a flurry of fierce competition — in golf, tennis, football, trapshooting, boxing, and in at least three big events it appears to be anybody's ball game.

The men's tennis at Forest Hills, N. Y., seems to be pretty well set. "In the bag" for Don Budge, as they say in the back room. Budge has reached the peak of his form this year, with a service that fairly blisters the court, and a brillant return game. But with the ladies, it's different. Who can pick a winner among Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble, Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, Kay Stammers? Your guess is as good as Gus the barber's.

In the national amateur championship starting Aug. 23 at Portland, justice should be on the side of Johnny Goodman, the Omaha boy who popped into the national picture from under a box car nine years ago, and who has been playing splendid golf all the while without much of a reward, except for the national open one year in Chicago. Goodman's rise was punctuated by the sudden stardom of Lawson Little, but he has been plugging along in his courageous way, always up among the leaders, but rarely blessed by the breaks that even a champion needs in golf.

More youngsters come dashing into the golf wars eager, ambitious lads, many of whom were carrying somebody's clubs only a year or two ago. Such boys as Johnny Fischer, Charley Kocsis, Freddy Haas, Frank Strafaci, Willie Turnesa are hard to down. With unexpected poise and power they upset older stars with the fire and force of their youth. Everyone must be watched. The tip I like is Fred Haas, skinny kid from Louisiana, who recently turned back a crowd of collegiate sharks.

It is hard to pick a winner in the All-Star football game at Chicago Sept. 1 between a team chosen from the college players of 1936 and the Green Bay Packers, hard-hitting, fast-thinking professional champions, coached by Curley Lambeau, a post graduate strategist from old Notre Dame. But I like the All-Stars to win this one even though they are playing together as a unit only once, and must meet the toughest competition professionalism has to offer. I think Gus Dorais, elected to lead the All-Stars, is a great coach, but that isn't the deciding factor. At the risk of sounding like the sophomore editor of the College Bugle, this writer thinks the collegians will win because they still carry within some of that old Frank Merriwell spirit. The "old fight" is pitted against long experience.

From a technical standpoint, I like San Francis' power and tirelessness, the blocking ability of lads like LaRue, Drake and Huffman, and the passing ability of Buivid and Baugh.

The Grand American handicap, a shotgun custom dating back to 1893, will be renewed Aug. 23 to 27 at Vandalia, near Dayton, O. There will be some 1,100 persons with guns to shoulders, blazing away at clay targets. It is one of the most unpredictable events in the world of sports, for no champion has repeated. Last year Ben Cheek, nearly 60 years old, a lifelong hunter but a first-year trapshooter, won the handicap. Some $50,000 in prizes will be divided. Among the scattergun elite is Joe Hiestand, regarded generally as the greatest shot in the world—but in the Grand American Joe will have to be just that to win.

Of course the Joe Louis-Tommy Farr fight must be mentioned. After all, it's for the heavyweight championship of the world, and it will be held on the night of Aug. 26 at Yankee stadium. Louis' first opponent since the Bomber blasted Braddock away from the title, doesn't appeal as a particularly dangerous contender. This is a fight the champion should win just as easily as he pleases.

SHE HAS IT—What? Why, "flare", whatever that is. So says beauty expert John Powers of Shirley Whitney of New York.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

The city council have been trying for the past few months to relieve the parking and traffic problem in downtown New Castle . . . they are now trying the parking meters . . . this column has made fun of them off and on . . . but let's be serious this once and give them a real trial . . . if they are no good and you people really think they are no good . . . I know that city council will do away with the system . . . put yourself in their shoes . . . what would you DO, not what would you SAY.

Here is a little suggestion about traffic on Washington street between the Neshannock bridge and the Diamond . . . it seems very logical and practical . . . what do you think of this, traffic department . . . "THE PLAN" . . . Washington street should be divided equally into six lanes . . . the lane next to the curb would be used for parking . . . that would leave two lanes on each side for traffic . . . as it is now, a fellow gets in the center of the street and holds up cars passing on either side . . . if lines were there it would have a tendency to keep two lines moving and thus keep cars moving . . . the state is talking of moving Route 422, which is Washington street, to some other part of town . . . we do have some transit trade . . . if we could keep cars moving why move them out around town.

What goes on in Warren, Pennsylvania? . . . we are just wondering Miss Evelyn Raney, if you could tell us what it's all about . . . Miss Raney has just returned from her vacation and we throught maybe she had passed through Warren.

How did the three sisters from Castlewood find the famous babies in Canada? . . . did you all have a fine trip? . . . we are interested.

It seems that a group of girls in New Castle can't be content with town boy friends . . . so what do they do? . . . they import them from Erie . . . maybe it's the convertible coupe that gets the eye . . . what say Winter avenue and North Mercer street?

LEGAL NOTICES

Sale Of Real Estate

By virtue of the authority of an order of the Orphans' Court of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, made July 31, 1937, in the estate of Paris C. McConnell, deceased, I will offer for Public Sale on the premises, on Monday, August 30, 1937, at 2:00 o'clock, P. M., all that certain piece, parcel or lot of land situate, lying and being mostly in the Fifth Ward, City of New Castle, and partly in the Township of Shenango, all in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the southeast corner thereof in Shenango Township at the southwest corner of lands now or formerly of William Vogan, near the end of Frank Avenue; thence along the south side of a proposed street designated on the city map as City Line Street, south 89¼° west, 35.7 rods to a post; thence crossing into the City of New Castle by land now or formerly of John Wooley along the middle line of a proposed street, designated on the city map as Wooley Avenue, north ¾° west 17.05 rods to a post; thence by land formerly of John Wooley, now of Alexander Anderson, north 89¼° east 28.65 rods to a post at line of land now or formerly of Wm. Vogan; thence by said land now or formerly of Wm. Vogan, along what is marked on the city map as a twenty-five foot alley and the end of Frank Avenue, south 22¾° east 18.5 rods to the place of beginning, having crossed back into Shenango Township a short distance from the end of said line, containing 3 acres and 68 square rods, more or less, having erected thereon one two-story frame dwelling house, shingle and composition roof.

TERMS OF SALE: Ten per cent (10%) of the bid on the day of sale, twenty-three and one-third per cent (23⅓%) on confirmation of the sale by the Court and the remainder in two equal annual installments from that date, with lawful interest, to be secured by bond and mortgage on the premises, the bond and mortgage embracing an attorney's commission in case the same shall have to be collected by legal process. The sale will be subject to the approval of the Orphans' Court of Lawrence County, Pa.

William McElwee, Jr., Executor.

Notice Of Private Sale Of Real Estate

Notice hereby is given that on petition presented to the Orphans' Court of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, on July 31, 1937, setting forth that an offer had been made by L. H. Hoover to purchase the real estate of Paris C. McConnell, deceased, hereinafter described at private sale for One thousand seven hundred dollars ($1700.00), the Court made an order fixing a hearing thereon for Saturday, August 28, 1937, at 9:00 o'clock, A. M. The property is described as follows:

All that certain tract of land situate in Neshannock Township, County of Lawrence and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a post at the northeast corner thereof and running thence south 1½° west by land of Thomas J. McKee's heirs 59.7 perches to a post; thence north 89½° west along same land and land of David McKee's heir a distance of 70.7 perches to the center of a public road; thence along the center of said public road in a northerly direction a distance of 63.1 perches more or less to a post at line of lands of W. O. Mayberry; thence by lands of said Mayberry south 88½° east a distance of 37.5 perches to the place of beginning, and containing 17 acres of land, more or less, having erected thereon a one and one-half story frame dwelling house and certain other smaller buildings.

Any heir, devisee or intending purchaser may appear and object to such sale on account of insufficiency of price.

William McElwee, Jr., Executor.

Market Continues In Reactionary Mood, Recovers From Initial Weakness

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The stock market continued reactionary today, although recovering moderately from initial weakness.

Losses ran to well over a point at the start, as selling was carried over from the previous close, but a light rally reduced declines considerably before the end of the first hour. A few scattered issues climbed above previous closing levels.

Steels, motors, coppers and rails were hardest hit in the opening sell-off, and also paced the later recovery effort.

Grain markets on the North American continent developed firmer tendencies, although corn, which yesterday displayed independent strength, lost as much as a cent a bushel. Cotton quieted down in the wake of losses of nearly $1 a bale Monday. Bonds were easier, but governments ruled steady.

At the early bottoms a long list of pivotal stocks were a point or more under last night's final quotations. These included Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and Youngstown in the steels; Chrysler and General Motors in the motor department; Atchison in the rails; Anaconda and Cerro De Pasco in the metals, and Westinghouse Electric. The losses in most instances were later reduced to minor fractions. Case in the farm implements climbed 4 points.

Liquor shares were among those to buck the downward trend. Hiram Walker chalked up a modest fractional gain. American Locomotive, Allied Stores and Loew's also moved behind minor plus signs.

Missing Sharon Man Is Hunted

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Police in the tri-state area were requested today to aid in the search for Harold Webber, 22, proprietor of a gasoline station here, who left his home on August 3 and has been strangely missing since. He was last seen the same day in Cleveland. His parents said he had $150 on his person at the time.

Seek Missing Fliers

Six Soviet fliers, lead by Sigismund Levanevsky, were last heard from after crossing the North Pole (A) on their route to Fairbanks, Alaska, for refuling. Dotted lines show the routes taken by searching planes which flew out over the tundra wastes where the giant Russian plane is believed to have been forced down.

Japanese Push China Drive

The Japanese continued their penetration of North China by taking Nankow, important railroad terminal. This, added to Peiping and Tientsin give the Japanese a direct rail route from the coast. While, at Shanghai, a Japanese concelrtration of warships gave them control of the mouth of the important Yangtze river, and bringing added threat to Nanking, capital of Chinese nationalist government. Foreign residents of Shanghai were gripped by terror as Japanese bluejackets moved into battle position in the city.

RIVALS FOR ROBINSON'S SEAT

Gov. Carl E. Bailey — John E. Miller

A bitter fight with strenuous campaigning on both sides is seen in Arkansas where two Democrats seek the senatorial seat left vacant by the death of Joseph T. Robinson. The candidates are Gov. Carl E. Bailey of Little Rock, and Representative John E. Miller of Searcy. Democrats who balked at the naming of Governor Bailey by the Democratic state central committee, chose Miller as their candidate.

Phenomenon Of Nature—Farm Land Caves In

FARMER ROBERTSON LOOKS AT THE DESTRUCTION

Hundreds of square feet of soil are sinking into the bowels of the earth near Buhl, Idaho, forming a new canyon. Today more than five acres of what formerly was rich farm land lies between 125 to 200 feet below its former level. The land does not break away and crumble, but sinks. This phenomenon of nature, which some authorities say is due to a great fissure beneath much of southern Idaho, may doom a considerable area. H. A. Robertson, leasor of farm land which has been sinking, is seen viewing the destruction. The land on which he is standing also will crumble, geologists say.

WILL SUPREME COURT JUSTICE BE ONE OF THESE?

Lloyd Garrison — Judge Sam Bratton — Gov. Frank Murphy

Will one of these three men be named by President Roosevelt to the vacancy of the U. S. supreme court bench? The three, Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, Lloyd Garrison, dean of the University of Wisconsin law school and former labor board chairman, and U. S. Circuit Court Judge Sam Bratton of Albuquerque, N. M., are most prominently mentioned. Governor Murphy and Garrison are considered liberals. Judge Bratton, a former member of the New Mexico supreme court and twice elected to the U. S. senate, is considered a "middle-of-the-roader". Governor Murphy is 44, Garrison is 30, Judge Bratton is 49. Conservative senators probably would oppose Murphy and Garrison.

Competition In Cafes Is Keener

Big New York Restaurants Are Worrying About Profits Now

SURROUNDINGS ARE INSPIRING

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Cafe competition has become so complex that even the big money making restaurants are beginning to worry about profits—the margin of which is unusually large.

O. O. McIntyre

Almost everybody whose bank roll begins to bulge, buys a few tables, rents a room and hangs up a sign.

The astonishing block on West 52d street now solidly lined on each side with every sort of eating place illustrates the idea. Broadway has scarcely any enterprises any more save movie houses and restaurants. The upper East Side is being fairly overrun with new eating places.

Sherman Billingsley has been giving gold coins to favorite Stork club customers. "No 21" publishes an expensive book filled with contributions of famous author guests. Another gets out a weekly tabloid with pictures about the headliners who gather there.

Every sort of entertainment is being offered with food. Ladies on the flying trapeze, crystal gazers, palmists, ventriloquists and such. The domestic problem is a boon to the new order. People who rarely dined out are now seldom dining home because of servant trouble.

Frank Case's daughter, Margaret Case Harriman, is an example of literary surroundings inspiring the writing urge. Miss Case's formative years were spent in her father's Algonquin, the haven of writers for a quarter century. As a child, Frank Ward O'Malley used to take her to the circus. She was surrounded by such whilom guests as Rex Beach, Edna Ferber, Sinclair Lewis and others who resided at her dad's inn. So it was natural she should turn to writing in time. Aside from an editorship on a woman's magazine, she has landed as a contributor on the New Yorker, Red Book, Vogue, Vanity Fair and the Saturday Evening Post.

Frank Case, himself, is no mean shakes as a litterateur although hiding most of his bravuras behind annoymity. He has under sundry pseudonyms contributed to most of the newspaper columns, to the sophisticated weeklies and is now, at leisure moments, finishing a book that will recount experiences for years at his West 44th street tavern.

Residents of Harlem are noncommittal about the headlined Messiah, Father Divine. Even those who oppose his religious frenzies—and they are in majority—keep their tongues, held in silence by the inherent negro fear of voodoo-like punishment. Several of Father Divine's detractors have met with strange misfortune. Of course, every instance was sheer coincidence, but to many in Harlem it meant Divine held some strange juju jungle witchery over events and persons. In fact this superstition saved him from almost complete rout by his followers in the recent ruckus that sent him fleeing the law.

Morgan Dennis has become America's foremost etcher of dogs. His collection is exhibited each year at a 5th avenue gallery and brings out the dog lovers of note. He is in constant demand by winners of prize winning pooches to immortalize their pets but rarely takes on a personal assignment unless the subject is a dog that strikes his fancy.

Few so-called playboys have been as successful in business as Billy Seeman. Although a settled family man now, following his marriage to the beautiful Phyllis Haver, he was in bachelor days a generous host to Broadway. During the period Mayor Walker was on the upbeat, Seeman was his particular pal. At his penthouse parties, one might find Paul Whiteman or George Gershwin leading a suddenly made up orchestra. But never, during these high-stepping years, did Seeman fail to show at his office next day and put in eight hours hard work. He lived high and handsomely, kept fit by regular exercise and worked like a Trojan. And thus escaped the windup of the usual playboy.

The finest compliment ever paid a certain totsy New York restaurant came from a Texan dining with a friend. The head-waiter had been instructed to overlook nothing. Untucking his napkin after the feast, the long-horn beamed: "Pardner, that was boardin'."

Old Timers' Day Letter Comes From A. S. McKay

On the eve of New Castle's Old Timers' Day celebration at Cascade park Wednesday comes an appropriate letter from A. S. McKay, a resident of St. Cloud, Fla., to Fred L. Rentz, president of The News.

Mr. McKay's letter:

Dear Mr. Rentz:

The time for the great event has come again, the biggest day of the year for dear old New Castle, bringing together as it does so many of the old-timers who love to get together and talk over the days of long ago. It is a get-together for the young as well as the old and how I would love to be with you on this grand occasion! I'm sorry that it cannot be.

I can well remember the first Old Timers' Day held in New Castle. It certainly was a wonderful day, and it was the same crowd that attended. As I look over the list of those who attended that day, I find there will be few left to attend this year's celebration.

I know you will have a great day of it, and, while I won't be there, my thoughts will be with you. I wish I could be there to see you and yours leading the grand march over the dance floor of the big pavilion, followed by old-timers who enjoy it today as much as they ever did. Then comes the square dance when they forget their age and go to it like they did in years past at Berger's grove or Big Run falls and other places.

Well, here's hoping you have a grand time and that nothing will happen to mar the day, with love and best wishes to you and all my friends.

I remain your old-timer friend,

A. S. McKAY.

Newsy Notes From Girl Scout Units At Camp Phillips

"International" Theme Being Carried Out By Girls At Kennedy's Mill

All of the New Castle girls couldn't go to the international Girl Scout encampment now being held at Camp Andre, Briar Cliff, N. Y., where there are representatives from 25 foreign countries, so they have "internationalized" themselves at their own Camp Phillips.

And that is why the visitors to the Kennedy's Mills nook on Sunday heard so much about "the English" doing this and "the Italians" doing that.

The girls, who are now in their second and final week of camping, write their own daily news bulletins, and the following items came from their own pens. They will give some idea of what went on in camp last week.

Present Opera, Mignon

France—The French unit began their campfire with the Virginia Reel and the songs 'Turkey in the Straw,' 'The Bear Went Over the Mountain', and 'Pop Goes the Weasel.' We then went into cabins and some had pantomimes and dramatics such as a hayride, the French opera 'Mignon', a Major Bowes Amateur Hour, Dances, Little Red Riding Hood, and the counselors put on a pantomime named. The Tree of France'. After the dramatics we choose partners and had a Mexican dance which Siref taught us. Then we choose six girls who knew the dance and picked the two who were the best. Then we sang songs and ended with taps.

Patricia Taylor, scribe.

SWISS HAVE CHALETS

Switzerland—Since the beginning of camp the Scouts in the Swiss unit have been very busy. The chalets by name are: Neufchatel, Valis and Lucerne. Each chalet has completed making a wash stand and a drain. The wash stands are large sticks lashed together with rope. Places are fixed for the wash basin, soap and tooth brushes. Camp programs have varied. Thee Swiss unit has had two campfire programs. On Monday night singing was conducted in their campfire circle, but driven by rain they dashed under cover. The girls were then divided into three groups. Each group was given slips of paper with names on them from which they were to make a dramatization. After each group was finished they discovered they all had the same slip. It was interesting to note the different ideas the girls had. Tuesday night the program was held in the Zurich chalet. The girls played a game using just the countries named in camp. Later the girls were divided in two groups. They were to act out a pantomime. One was about William Tell, the other 'The Last Shepherd.' At the end of the program Catherine Davis who celebrated her fifteenth birthday Tuesday was given a gift by the camp, which she divided between them. Each chalet has elected a patrol leader. They are Patricia Loy, Shirley Robbins and Bobby Parsons. The Swiss unit is lucky to have four good counselors. Their unit leader is Miss Balsinger. Her camp name is Winkelreid. Winkle for short. Telly or the well known William Tell is Irene Kirchner. She teaches everyone archery and our unit handicraft. Donna Jean Beale, our campfire organizer and dramatic instructor, camp name is Melchetal. Our swimming and life-saving instructor is Eleanor Yingst. Her name here at camp is Stauffacher, Stauffy.

Helene Leanard, scribe.

WEATHER ALL WET . . .

Gypsie News—Flash! Weather forecast: Cloudy tonight, rain and thundershowers tomorrow.

Flash! Gypsie unit are thinking of becoming sea scouts. Flash! The sudden formation of a lake in our former fireplace caused great elation. Boating in our own back yard. This is your Gypsie reported who hopes that no one else make the sage remark "I think it's going to rain." I'll be back in a flash with an umbrella.

Teacher Appeals Dismissal Order

William Ganaposki, Farrell Physical Director Asks Court Hearing

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 17—William Ganaposki, dismissed physical director of Farrell schools, filed an appeal in the Mercer county court from the action of the school board which failed to re-elect him.

He stated that on December 17, 1936, he was replaced as basketball coach by John Hetra and that on March 11, he was notified by registered letter by the school board, to the effect that his contract as a professional employe would terminate with the school year June 4, 1937.

On May 6, he was notified by the board that he would be refused re-election on the grounds of incompentency and neglect to perform the duties assigned to him by the board and school authorities.

He stated that he notified the board he desired to attend a hearing set for May 17, and requested a written statement of the charges made against him. He states that after a series of hearings he was notified by the board on July 23, that he had been refused re-election.

Among his grounds of appeal are: There was not a full representation of the board at the meeting May 17, and July 9, as required; that a majority of the board were the real complainants and therefore not eligible to sit on the case; that the full board was not present during the deliberation, and that the complaint does not charge an offense that would justify a termination of the contract.

Four powerful radio sets have been installed in Folsom prison, California.

Ruby Keeler Is Operated Upon

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17—Ruby Keeler, dancing and singing star and wife of Al Jolson, underwent an operation for appendicitis here on Monday.

Dr. E. C. Moore, attending surgeon, announced the operation was successful and that Miss Keeler's condition was good.

Miss Keeler, who returned here with Jolson from a New York vacation trip, a week ago, was stricken last Wednesday.

GROVE CITY BOY SCOUTS ARE HOME

GROVE CITY Aug. 17—"Bill Amos closed Camp Fithian, near Slippery Rock yesterday, after a successful two-week's outing in which he had charge of nearly 100 local Boy scouts. Mr. Amos will leave late this week for Washington, Pa., where he will assume his duties as head football coach at the high school after five years in a similar position at Grove City College.

It is believed that Mr. Amos will return each summer to take charge of the annual Boy Scout camp. Since he came here in 1932, he has been the head of Boy Scout activities here, and his departure will be a serious loss to the community.

The greatest glory of a free-born people is to transmit that freedom to their children.—Havard.

TART TASTE IS GOOD

Tart cake fillings are preferred for summer serving. A lemon or orange filling in baked sugar cookies makes a dainty tit-bit to serve with chilled beverages.
